Working & living in Lincolnshire

One of the most important decisions in life is choosing where you live and work. Your first glimpse of Lincoln will probably be our magnificent Cathedral sat proudly on the hilltop alongside the Castle. We are steeped with history but that's not all....

We have a wonderful food and drink scene in Lincoln. The Brayford Waterfront is a bustling area with a fantastic selection of restaurants. But the entertainment doesn't stop there.....we have pubs, clubs and restaurants all the through the city centre and up Steep Hill which leads you to up uphill Lincoln. Here you will see 100s of years of history with beautiful buildings and architecture around every corner.

It is easily accessible to the whole of the UK and has easy links into Europe. Each year thousands of people choose to come to Lincolnshire, primarily for the quality of life it has to offer. There is a real mix of a thriving urban city, bustling historic market towns, idyllic villages, miles of unspoilt coastline and areas of natural beauty.

We have low crime rates, affordable housing, good education facilities and a healthy environment making it a great place to live and work. Lincolnshire is less than two hours by road or rail from London and is accessible to everyone.

Lincolnshire has such a diverse business base and this is one of its greatest strengths as a place to live and work.

For almost every family, the quality of the local state education system is of prime importance. Lincolnshire has an excellent educational offering from pre-school education to University. Lincolnshire has it all – with a range of housing from town centre apartments, family terraces, to new build developments and detached homes in picturesque village locations.

Lincolnshire has some of the best value homes in the Country with property prices somewhat lower than the UK average. Average house prices in Lincolnshire vary from £127,673 to £163,999 compared to the average UK house price of £238,976.

The quality of life in Lincolnshire is great. With so much to do and see everyone can find the lifestyle they want in Lincolnshire. Whether your idea of a great day out is strolling around boutique shops or motorbike racing, water-skiing or walking, it's all on offer in Lincolnshire. The County's many outdoor activities all take place against the backdrop of one of Britain's most scenic landscapes.
