

HELP International School, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia

Established in 2014, HELP International School (HIS) is located on the outskirts of Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. The school is an all-through school catering for students from age 3 to 18 through the International Early Years Curriculum (IEYC), International Primary Curriculum (IPC), International Middle Years Curriculum (IMYC), The National Curriculum for England, International GCSE and A Level. The school delivers Singapore Maths in the Primary school and has a vibrant Mandarin programme at all levels that includes assessment using the Chinese Proficiency Test - the HSK.

HIS is a thriving, multicultural learning community representing 25 different nationalities. 85% of students and 65% of staff are Malaysian and the school has achieved a top 'five star' rating in a recent 'SKIPS' inspection by the Ministry of Education. The school has more than 1300 students on roll.

The school achieved recognition for leadership and educational excellence as an Apple Distinguished School in 2017. Students have 1:1 iPads, and teachers have 1:1 iPads and MacBooks. The school campus is a purpose built, modern facility. The school has a site wide wireless networks and uses a number of different applications and systems to support and enhance learning. The iPad 1:1 programme is supported by a team of Learning Technologies coaches. The school has a campus feel, and all sections are currently housed in a five story building with a central green courtyard. The school has invested in designing flexible, open and green learning spaces. The school is part of a developing 'education hub' in the area that includes HELP University with further development planned.

The school is a member of the Association of Malaysian International School's (AIMS) and is currently planning for inspection from Fieldwork Education for the IPC curriculum. The school is currently going through a FOBISSEA member application and will seek accreditation through an internationally recognised body in the foreseeable future.

The learning community at HELP International School includes all stakeholders. We invest in people and offer an extensive professional learning programme to our teachers, equivalent to two hours of professional learning per week. The school is a Professional Development Centre for Cambridge Assessment International Education (CAIE). Parents are regularly engaged through information workshops and hands-on experiences.

Vision

To become a world-renowned school that embodies a holistic educational philosophy.

Mission

To provide an educational experience that will enable and inspire our students to experience life in all its fullness.

School Motto

Our school motto, Vita ad Plenitudinem, means 'Life in all its Fullness'. It captures the essence of what we hope to achieve at HIS. As educators and as parents, we want the best for our children. We want our children to live full lives, enjoying all the opportunities that our world has to offer, finding meaning and fulfillment in all that they do.

At HIS, we define living 'Life in all its Fullness' as learning to:

- Discover all our talents and develop as all-rounders so that we reach our full potential;
- Appreciate and enjoy culture, sports and the beauty of our natural world;
- Recognise and embrace all the opportunities that life brings us;
- Understand and celebrate diverse cultures; and
- Develop and enjoy healthy and wholesome relationships with others.
