The Howard Partnership Trust

The Howard Partnership Trust (THPT) is one of the largest and strongest performing Multi Academy Trusts (MATs) in Surrey.

THPT grew out of a long-standing federation, the first in Surrey, which was originally formed in 2007 at the request of the DfE and Surrey LA. The federation was between Howard of Effingham, an Ofsted outstanding 11–18 school, which was designated the lead, and Thomas Knyvett College, an 11–16 school in Ashford. Through school-to-school collaboration, both schools benefitted from improved student outcomes, leading to Ofsted judging partnership working in each school as outstanding in 2009.

The Multi-Academy Trust was formed in November 2013, again at the request of the DfE and LA, to enable the Partnership's first primary school to join. Kenyngton Manor School, a Surrey two-form entry primary converted to an academy within THPT in December 2013. Since this, THPT has grown to its current size of four secondary phase schools and five in the primary phase.

The inclusive ethos of the MAT is enhanced by four Special Centres attached to mainstream settings; this will be further strengthened by the successful Wave 12 Free School Special School bid, and the addition of another COIN Centre to Howard of Effingham School.

Those involved with THPT are justly proud of the ethos of collaboration and inclusion achieved in each of the Partnership schools, which we believe has been achieved by upholding shared vision and values in which there is a commitment to 'bringing out the best' in young people of all abilities and aptitudes, so increasing their life-chances.

Schools within THPT retain their own unique features to serve their local communities however they are all underpinned with the same guiding principles: namely to ensure that a first rate education is provided through consistently high quality teaching which facilitates excellent learning within an inclusive, caring vibrant environment.
