- Know a range of approaches to assessment including the importance of formative assessment.
- Know how to use local and national statistical information to evaluate the effectiveness of their teaching, to monitor the progress of learners and to raise levels of attainment.
- Know how to use reports and other sources of external information related to assessment in order to provide learners with accurate and constructive feedback on their strengths, weaknesses, attainment, progress and areas for development, including action plans for improvement.

Subject and Curriculum

- Have a secure knowledge and understanding of one's subjects/curriculum areas and related pedagogy including the contribution that one's subjects/curriculum areas can make to cross-curricular learning; and recent relevant developments.
- Know and understand the relevant statutory and non- statutory curricula and frameworks, including those provided through the National Strategies, for one's subjects/curriculum areas, and other relevant initiatives applicable to the age and ability range taught.

Literacy, numeracy and ICT:

- Know how to use skills in literacy, numeracy and ICT to support their teaching and wider professional activities.

Achievement and diversity:

- Understand how children and young people develop and that the progress, rate of development and well-being of learners are affected by a range of developmental, social, religious, ethnic, cultural and linguistic influences.
- Know how to make effective personalised provision for learners, including those for whom English is an additional language or who have special educational needs or disabilities, and how to take practical account of diversity and promote equality and inclusion in their teaching.
- Understand the roles of colleagues such as those having specific responsibilities for learners with special education needs, disabilities and other individual learning needs, and the contributions they can make to the learning, development and well-being of children and young people.
- Know when to draw on the expertise of colleagues, such as those with responsibility for the safeguarding of children and young people and special educational needs and disabilities, and to refer to sources of information, advice and support from external agencies.

Health and well-being:

- Know the current legal requirements, national policies and guidance on the safeguarding and promotion of the well-being of children and young people.
- Know the local arrangements concerning the safeguarding of children and young people.
- Know how to identify potential child abuse or neglect and follow safeguarding procedures.
- Know how to identify and support children and young people whose progress, development or well-being is affected by changes or difficulties in their personal circumstances, and when to refer them to colleagues for specialist support.
- (c) Identify and use opportunities to personalise and extend learning through out-of-school contexts where possible making links between in-school learning and learning in out-of-school contexts.
- (a) Manage learners' behaviour constructively by establishing and maintaining a clear and positive framework for discipline, in line with the school's behaviour policy.
- (b) Use a range of behaviour management techniques and strategies, adapting them as necessary to promote the self-control and independence of learners.
- Promote learners' self-control, independence and co-operation through developing their social, emotional and behavioural skills.

Team working and collaboration:

- Work as a team member and identify opportunities for working with colleagues, sharing the development of effective practice with them.
- Ensure that colleagues working collaboratively are appropriately involved in supporting learning and understand the roles they are expected to fulfil.

- Fulfil the professional standards as outlined in the Teachers' Standards documentation.
