

Job Specification Overview:

The ideal candidate will:

- Have a good degree in Biology or a related subject, as well as a recognised teaching qualification.
- Be able to teach Biology throughout the school. The ability to teach a further science to Key Stage 4 is an advantage but not essential.
- Be able to work proactively within the Biology department and wider Faculty, exchanging ideas and sharing resources.
- Be a team player and collaborative worker, but also able to infuse their teaching with their own personality and style.
- Participate in relevant IB training and internally-arranged professional development, including contributing to training sessions where appropriate.
