An exciting opportunity to join one of the country's top Multi-Academy Trusts

Developing scholars to hold good moral principles, achieve exceptional outcomes and have ambitious life choices

Dixons Allerton Academy is looking to appoint a hardworking, determined and inspirational Teacher of Science to join our outstanding science department. Our vision is to improve scholar achievement, develop character, create an academic culture and raise aspirations by ensuring daily practices are outstanding. The academy is all-through from 3 - 18 years of age, with places for 52 nursery children, 420 primary children, 1,200 secondary scholars (11 - 16 years) and 240 post 16 scholars.

Do you do whatever it takes for children to learn?

Do you want to make a lasting impact?

Do you have the self-determination to make it happen?

The successful candidate will be totally aligned to our values of happiness, industry and responsibility and be completely committed to our vision: The academy will ensure that scholars leave the academy saying: "At Dixons Allerton Academy, I developed good moral principles and achieved exceptional outcomes that allowed me to have ambitious life choices."
