Nottingham High School

The High School is an independent day school (HMC), founded in 1513, which relocated to the Arboretum in 1867 and which became co-educational in 2015. A Junior School was established in 1905, moved into new accommodation in 1978 and admitted infants in September 2008.

The Infant and Junior School (ages 4-11) has over 250 pupils. The Senior School selects for entry at age 11+ and 16+. There are roughly 800 pupils in the Senior School and a vibrant Sixth Form of over 200. The school's move to co-education has been a great success with 180 girls in School during the third year of co-education and with further significant growth planned in future years.

The High School is a school of national reputation, the Headmaster having membership of HMC, the Infant and Junior Head membership of IAPS. Staff from cluster groups of local independent schools and national large day schools meet annually.

The High School has a very strong academic reputation and achieved the best examination results in the region last summer.

The School has an extensive pupil catchment and is first choice for much of Nottinghamshire, Derbyshire, Lincolnshire and Leicestershire. The School operates a number of coaches to transport pupils.

Pupils come from a wide range of backgrounds and the School is committed to maintaining a representative entry, supporting this with generous bursary and scholarship funds. Together, these mean that about a fifth of pupils receive some form of financial assistance.

Entry is by competitive assessment in the Spring Term.

The Future

The person appointed will be joining a dynamic innovative school. Staff are keen to embrace new methods and technology. The website www.nottinghamhigh.co.uk contains links to Twitter accounts for various parts of the school.

Each of the parts of Nottingham High School has a comprehensive development plan for the future focusing on teaching and learning, pastoral care and co-curricular activities as well as building developments. There is a first class Sixth Form Centre and a modern dining facility in addition to new and refurbished facilities across all parts of the School.

Modern Languages at Nottingham High School

The Modern Languages Department is a vibrant department which believes strongly in the value of languages and the cultural and intellectual enrichment they bring. All teaching staff are highly-trained subject specialists, and all have spent substantial periods of time living in the countries whose languages they teach. We have eight language teachers, six full-time and two part-time; all are able to teach at least two of our three languages, French, German and Spanish. In addition, in each of the languages, we employ a Foreign Language Assistant who is a native speaker. The Assistants are deployed in a variety of roles, including one-to-one conversations, small-group practice work and support within the classroom, and they make a considerable contribution to developing students' fluency and confidence.

Our two dedicated digital suites are fully equipped and monitored by our full-time Languages Resources Assistant, who also plays an invaluable role in helping students prepare for speaking assessments by offering informal drop-in practice conversation sessions at lunch-time. Every class is timetabled to go into one of the digital rooms on a regular basis, usually once a week, and we are therefore able to make frequent use of specialist language websites as well as digital resources tailor-made to complement the courses we use. This enables students to work independently, and we guide them to find the appropriate level of consolidation and challenge as they work at their own pace on the resources. We strongly encourage them, as their confidence grows, to develop the habit of consulting news and current affairs websites from the countries whose languages they are studying.

All our teaching classrooms are fully equipped with audio-visual equipment, which supports flexible use of our up-to-date courses with their strong element of visual stimulus and regular audio components. These courses are also available to students online as digital books, enabling them to study flexibly when they are not in school. In addition, we introduce them to a broad range of language-learning websites, for example Vocab Express, This is Language, Languages on Line, Zut, Conjuguemos, which are strongly motivational and, again, are accessible to students wherever they have internet access.

We organise and lead annual foreign trips and exchanges, including a long-established Year 9 and 10 German Exchange with a partner-school near Munich. All students studying Languages at A-Level have the opportunity to take part in either a study visit or an exchange; these attract very good numbers of participants and help candidates greatly in their preparation for speaking examinations.

We have always been keen to teach film and literature to our Sixth-form groups, and we have embraced enthusiastically the cultural strand present in the latest A-level specifications. We are currently teaching, for example, La Haine and Bonjour, Tristesse; Goodbye, Lenin! and der Vorleser; and La Casa de Bernarda Alba and Volver.

We are proud of the strong tradition of students who continue to use their languages at University level, whether as their main focus or to complement their other areas of study. Recent examples have included Law with German Law, Economics with Spanish, and Modern Languages with Chinese, Russian or Italian ab initio.
