Head of PE

Laude San Pedro International College is an extremely successful, well-established co-educational day school, and we seek to appoint an inspirational teacher of PE for February 2019. Our school has excellent internal and external examination results, but we continuously strive to improve on the outcomes for all of the students in our care. Learning is at the heart of everything that we do.

The school is located just south of Marbella in the beautiful seaside resort of San Pedro de Alcántara and we are part of the International Schools Partnership (ISP), with sister schools throughout Spain, Europe, South America and the Middle East. We are very fortunate to enjoy such a diverse community and have 52 nationalities within our community.

We are seeking to appoint a highly motivated colleague: a professional commitment to the academic and creative ethos of the school, and the ability to work in a team are essential.

Applicants must be eligible to work in the Spain and be fluent in English.

The School

- We are known as one of the leading British International Schools in the region
- Fully accredited by NABSS, the Spanish Ministry and listed as one of the top 100 International Schools in Spain (El Mundo), we are also a member of ACADE.
- Part of the International Schools Partnership with a global network of sister schools
- 846 pupils aged from 3 years to 18 years
- We are well established and were founded 14 years ago
- A history of pupils going on to study at universities around the world
- Located in a purpose built campus in the beautiful town of San Pedro de Alcántara, 10 minutes from Marbella and 50 minutes from Malaga
- Knowledge of Spanish, or willingness to learn Spanish would be an advantage

The candidate profile

- Proactive and inspirational teacher, preferably with independent and/or international experience
- QTS (Applications from NQTs would also be considered)
- Knowledge and experience of teaching the national curriculum for England and Wales up to and including A Level
- A native level of English
- Experience of and willingness to actively participate in the pastoral and enriched life of the school community
- A positive team player who is happy to contribute and lead initiatives within a successful and supportive department

In return we offer:

- An amazing career opportunity to teach in a prestigious, internationally-minded school
- A competitive local salary
- A great working environment
- Well-structured continual professional development programme.

It is possible that this post may combine with a role coordinating the After School Activities Provision.
