

About Alpha Schools

Founded in 2003, Alpha Schools has quietly grown to be one of the largest operators of independent schools in the UK.

Unusually, we like to keep a low group profile as we believe that each school should retain its own distinct character and history rather than simply becoming part of a corporate homogeny. For this reason, you'll find little online about Alpha Schools.

Fundamentally, we feel that schools should be coeducational and a blend of the highest academic and pastoral expectations. In a nutshell, they should have a family-oriented ethos, which helps each child, pupil and student to enjoy reaching their potential.

We have schools with four-month-old babies and we have schools with eighteen-year-old young men and women. This means we keenly understand what is vital at each stage of learning and how best to encourage all in our care to flourish whilst realising the joy and power of education.

As a member of the Alpha Schools family, you will enjoy all the autonomy of leading an independent school as well as the additional support and resources that are available from our network of exceptionally successful sister schools.

The schools consistently place in the higher echelons of academic benchmarking, including:

- The Sunday Times, Parent Power Best Performing Schools Group 2017
- Best 11+ results in LEA regions
- A decade of outstanding inspection results
- Consistent school of first choice for students

Our achievements demonstrate the strength of the group and the clear opportunity to collaborate with (and learn from) some impressive leaders.
