Head of Islamic Studies (initial one year post)

The Post

Dubai College is seeking to appoint a lively, enthusiastic and highly committed Head of Islamic Studies to this thriving and successful department for an initial one year post. Islamic Studies is one of six core subjects in the UAE alongside English, Maths, Science, Arabic and UAE Social Studies and as such the successful applicant must be willing and able to track and monitor the progress and attainment of over 200 Islamic Studies students at the College and present this information on an annual basis as part of a rigorous inspection regime. The role is one which shoulders serious accountability. In addition Dubai College is one of the leading British Schools Overseas in the world and our selective entry criteria mean that our students are among the most able globally. As such it will be incumbent upon the successful applicant to deliver stretching, thoughtful and engaging lessons to highly intelligent students from cosmopolitan backgrounds who are critical thinkers determined to stake their claim on the 21st century.

As a teacher at Dubai College you will be expected to monitor, assess and evaluate the learning which is taking place and then report the findings to students and parents and adapt your teaching accordingly. You will also take responsibility for your own professional development and actively seek out opportunities in order to contribute to your own professional growth with support from the College. Finally you will also recognise that your role extends far beyond the classroom: you will be expected to be a form tutor to an assigned group of students, contribute to the school's PSHE programme through Enrichment Days, tutor time and class assemblies, as well as lead at least one extra-curricular activity per week and participate in one whole-school event in an evening or on a weekend at least once per term.

The Head of Islamic Studies at Dubai College is a role which presents unique challenges and affords equally distinct rewards. As a reflective, open-minded and committed Muslim your role will be to support and engage our most able student body as they navigate their way through life.

All applicants must:

- have a degree in Islamic Studies recognised by the UAE Ministry of Education
- have Qualified Teacher Status and a minimum of two-years teaching experience post qualification
- have experience of teaching Islamic Studies in a British curriculum school
- be up to date with current changes in the curriculum and be prepared in the implementation of those changes

In addition the successful candidate will:

- be expected to teach Islamic Studies throughout Key Stages 3 to 5 and be able to stretch the most able students and support all students
- be able to demonstrate excellent skills in classroom practice using a wide range of teaching and learning strategies
- be an enthusiastic, creative and innovative teacher with a genuine love of the subject, who can motivate and inspire students using a wide range of teaching strategies
- be fully aware of Assessment for Learning and include AFL as an integral part of classroom practice
- be able to work as a member of a team and to contribute to the further development of the department
- be committed to their own professional development, and in particular to the integration of digital skills as a tool for teaching and learning
- involve themselves fully in the College's extracurricular programme

The Department

The Islamic Studies Department has two full time members of staff, teaching Islamic Studies for Arabic and non-Arabic speakers from Year 7 to Year 12, and one part-time member of staff who teaches Quran recitation. Those students who speak Arabic study what is known as Islamic Studies A and those who do not speak Arabic study what is known as Islamic Studies B. The maximum class size in any year group is 22, with over 40 non-Arabic speaking students per year group studying Islamic Studies B, and a total of 15 students studying Islamic Studies A throughout the school.

Arabic speaking students follow the Ministry of Education syllabus and non-Arabic speakers study Islamic Studies in English using the resources suggested by the UAE Ministry of Education. Our mission is to teach our students the Holy Quran and Hadeeth in addition to Islamic values and principles, Islamic law and etiquettes, Seerah, Faith, Identity, Humanity and the universe. Teachers are at liberty to adopt whichever teaching methods will enable our students to appreciate the value of Islam in their own lives. Students' understanding is gained through a variety of skills such as critical thinking, problem solving, independent learning, innovation and use of technology, in addition to the application of practices, moralities and faith in daily life which helps them to reflect their identity through living Islam. Furthermore we endeavour to enable our Muslim students to strengthen their skills of recitation and memorisation, as well as to apply the rules of Tajweed and the meaning of the Quran. These practical Quran sessions take place in independent Quran sessions which are taught by the qualified Quran teacher.

There are prayer rooms for males and females on the premises which are accessible to students, staff and visitors.

The College

Dubai College was established forty years ago and has a national and international reputation as a world class learning organisation. We are an independent, coeducational, not-for-profit, selective school following an adapted English National Curriculum and our vision is "to be the best British School Overseas in the world, underpinned by four pillars of sporting, creative, philanthropic and academic endeavour". This modest ambition is built on a strategy which keeps learning first. As a consequence, we have a generous CPD budget which is used to create and support continuous learning opportunities for staff. The recent appointment of a newly created Deputy Head: Learning and Teaching keeps our core focus at the heart of the school. Supported by Specialist Leaders in Education who mentor and support staff in digital skills, the Harkness method, innovative pedagogies and Dubai College Online, teaching staff are encouraged to undertake action research projects and apply for part-time Masters degrees in education-related fields. Working collaboratively within departments during INSET days as well as increasingly reaching out across a network of other not-for-profit British schools in Dubai the College is continually striving to create systems for the sharing and creation of knowledge and learning. Whilst we do place an emphasis on academic rigour, in the true spirit of independent schools we champion the importance of the flourishing extra-curricular programme to which all staff contribute. Classes are small and the facilities, resources and teaching environment are very high quality. It is therefore no surprise that the College has developed a very strong regional and international reputation for Drama, Music and Sport. We are a member of HMC, COBIS (Council of British International Schools) and BSME (British Schools of the Middle East).

The British Schools Overseas inspection of the College (conducted in January 2016) classified the school as 'Outstanding' stating 'It represents the very best of British education whilst, at the same time, respecting and celebrating the local culture in Dubai'. The key strengths of the school were identified as the progress and attainment of the students; the teaching, learning and assessment; the curriculum; relationships across the school and sense of community; personal development of the students and leadership across the school. The number of students on roll is currently 920 and comprises students in the 11 to 18 age range with more than 250 in the Sixth Form. The College operates an eight form intake of 160 students in Year 7. Approximately 55% of the students are British, but over forty additional nationalities are represented. The GCSE and A Level courses followed are those of one of three examination boards (Edexcel, AQA, and OCR).

Examination results are consistently outstanding and in 2017 Dubai College's GCSE performance was comparable to the 12th best UK co-educational independent school according to The Times Parent Power Independent Schools League Table. Our excellent A Level results mean that up to 28% of Dubai College leavers now go on to study at the top 1% of universities worldwide (according to The Times Global Reputation Rankings) and we are yet again the top performing school in the United Arab Emirates achieving 85% A*/A grades at GCSE and 60% A*/A grades at A Level this year.

The College occupies a nineteen-acre site on the coast very close to The Palm at the mid-point between Dubai Marina and the iconic Burj Al Arab. Over the years excellent facilities have been developed and all teaching rooms will soon have generic LCD screens which allow students and staff to project their devices to the class. We have a multi-purpose auditorium which is capable of seating over 1000, the Sixth Form centre underwent significant expansion and redevelopment in 2014 and this year we have opened a new flagship English department which serves as a statement of intent for future renovation, as well as a new reception and administration building which will create the space for our regional teaching and learning hub. A new sports pavilion was completed in 2015 and we are fortunate enough to have our grass playing fields and other sports facilities located on site.

Ethos

As a College we are aiming to engineer balance in the lives of students who are academically very gifted. There is no blueprint for a Dubai College student rather we are aiming for students to discover for themselves who they are and who they want to be. By creating a wealth of opportunities for students to participate in as broad a range of experiences as possible whether they are sporting, creative, philanthropic or academic, we are enabling them to discover their own place within the school community and in time within the world outside. We never lose sight of the fact that our academically gifted students aspire to perform as well as possible in public examinations and we continuously champion the academic. However, the ability to work as a member of a team, to manage setbacks and failure and to recognise personal strengths and weaknesses will be as important in enabling them to live their life with integrity and is consequently a core focus of what we do here. As a result our students leave us as confident individuals with the knowledge, skill set and outlook to succeed at the very best universities and eventually in their chosen, often very challenging, career paths. When asked what standards we expect of one another as professionals DC staff demonstrate a real sense of vocation, that working at Dubai College is not a job but a lifestyle choice. Teachers believe strongly that they should be able to fulfil their academic responsibilities to their students and must be accountable for the outcomes of every one of their students. The next most important expectation of staff at Dubai College is that they should embrace whole school life and contribute fully to the extra-curricular programme both during and after school hours.

Working at Dubai College is intense; it is not a 9-5 job and for it to continue to feel like a real community staff must be willing to give freely of their time in exchange for working with very able students. Staff believe they should also display excellent professional courtesy to one another and their students: every subject is on the timetable for a reason and no-one should speak out of turn about somebody else's academic discipline; we work in an Islamic country and staff should dress professionally in line with cultural sensitivities and staff should treat one another and their students as they would hope to be treated themselves. Staff also feel that they each have a responsibility to go beyond the baseline: the national curriculum is a jumping off point not an end goal, an exam syllabus is a dot to be joined up to a bigger picture, the working day is the start but not the end of a day's work, an ALPS prediction is a minimum for a student to achieve. As practitioners staff feel they should be looking to develop, to enthuse, to inspire, they should be craftsmen with a passion for their subject and whatever their position in the school they feel they all ought to feel equally responsible for the outcomes of the College. As members of a school which feels more like an extended family than an institution we hope to educate well-mannered citizens who are empowered to fulfil their aspirations. The “not-for-profit” structure of our organisation perfectly embodies our ethos: everything is invested in the school and the students with nothing left over.

While this all sounds ideal it is important to understand, however, that Dubai College is not perfect. The post itself is an extremely challenging one and the College is tremendously busy. If you dislike hard work – sacrificing many weekends and evenings for the sake of the students – and are concerned by working with highly able, intellectually demanding students, this post is simply not for you. Equally it must be clearly understood that the College is passing through a significant period of change and we are in a new phase of the College’s development cycle. We are updating our learning approaches, facilities, policies, curriculum and IT capability. The successful applicant must both embrace and play their significant part in contributing to this change but without damaging, in any way, the core essential ethos of the school. It should be noted that, although we certainly embrace change, we do not run with every innovation emanating from the UK – we cherry-pick initiatives that suit our selective and highly able student body. However, it should also be noted that we are subject to whatever changes the UAE government chooses to make on an annual basis which can make for a very fast-paced educational landscape.

The College really does have a great feel about it. It already has an exceptionally strong national and international reputation and if you feel you have the potential to build on our reputation as centre of excellence on the global stage we would very much like to hear from you.
