History Department Information

The History department at Northgate is a dynamic and forward thinking environment in which to work. We are seeking a colleague with the ability to contribute to this atmosphere and build on the existing good practice.

History is a popular subject at both GCSE and A-Level, the foundation for pupils' interest being firmly established at KS3. As a result we are looking for someone to help install into pupils a love of history to ensure that they carry on with their studies in History.

The department has a strong emphasis on ensuring pupils are ready to face the new challenges at GCSE and A-Level. This has meant restructuring lessons and homework at KS3 and KS4. The successful applicant would have the opportunity to contribute to the on-going restructure of lessons as we focus on ensuring that pupils have the necessary skills to be successful at GCSE and beyond.

We are looking for an enthusiastic Historian willing to challenge and innovate in the classroom as well as share their own ideas and approaches with colleagues.
