

Queen's College, London

Established 1848

Head of Geography

September 2021

This is an opportunity to join one of the most high-achieving and forward-looking independent schools in London. We are looking for an outstanding geographer to lead our thriving Geography department at this over-subscribed, academically selective school for girls aged 11 to 18.

Queen's College, London is seeking to appoint a well-qualified and inspirational classroom practitioner as Head of Geography. This is a crucial position of responsibility: the person appointed will provide academic leadership of the subject and will work closely with the senior leadership team as part of our commitment to excellence in the humanity subjects. The department is supportive and innovative. The subject is taught with academic rigour and the department achieves very strong results in public examinations.

Geography is popular at Queen's and is consistently one of our more selected options at GCSE, with increasing numbers of pupils also opting for A-level study. Each year a good number of students choose to study Geography at university.

Applications should be made on the Queen's College application form and sent to the Executive Assistant to the Principal by e-mail (rarcher@qcl.org.uk). The deadline for applications is noon on Wednesday 24 February 2021.

Queen's College is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children, and applicants must be willing to undergo child protection screening, including checks with past employers and the Disclosure and Barring Service.
