If the answer to these questions is yes, then Mayfield School is the right place for you.

We are looking for a dynamic and inspirational teacher of English to join our successful English faculty as an Assistant Faculty Leader. This post is suitable for either an established Assistant Faculty Leader or an aspiring Assistant Faculty Leader with experience of leading improvements in an English curriculum area.

The Faculty is fully staffed with 17 specialist English teachers who all play an integral part in the development and improvement of the English experiences across the school. One of our English teachers also works for the English and Media centre, allowing the team to be on the cutting edge of new initiatives. Teachers across the faculty teach students in mixed ability sets from Year 7 to Year 11, and there is a strong cohort of students in the Sixth form studying A-Level English language or A-Level English Literature. We are keen to support all teachers to develop their pedagogy and abilities so they can teach all ages and abilities, including A-Level English.

English is housed in a dedicated suite of classrooms that are all equipped with either digital projectors or interactive whiteboards and document cameras.

As a teacher and leader, you will benefit from a comprehensive range of CPD activities that builds on our aim for all students to 'be the best they can be'. This includes participating in Teacher Learning Communities, faculty specific INSET and collaborative development of resources and teaching approaches. You will also benefit from leadership development CPD to both refine your expertise as an Assistant Faculty Leader and also equip you with the skills and experience to progress your career into Senior Leadership if you should wish to.
