

SEVENOAKS SCHOOL

JOB DESCRIPTION

Appointment of Teacher of Classics from September 2019 (One Year Maternity Cover)

The School

Founded in 1432, Sevenoaks enjoys a global reputation as a centre of academic excellence and a flagship school for the International Baccalaureate Diploma Programme. A co-educational day and boarding school, it offers a stimulating, intellectually demanding and balanced education for students from the age of 11 to 18.

Inspiring facilities, together with expert, enthusiastic and imaginative teaching, provide rich opportunities for students participating in lessons, and a wide variety of sports and the performing arts.

The school's international make-up and outlook promote the principles of tolerance and open-mindedness. About 350 students board in the seven boarding houses, and students originate from some 40 countries worldwide.

In 2013 the Independent Schools Inspectorate (ISI) awarded Sevenoaks School the rare accolade of 'Exceptional' for its students' achievement. In the new style inspection in 2017 students' achievement and personal development were judged excellent, the highest grades. Sevenoaks was also the highest performing fully co-educational school, and the one with the largest cohort, in The Sunday Times Parent Power's top 50 fee-paying schools for the IB in 2015. In 2017 we were, for the second time in 10 years, awarded The Sunday Times Independent School of the Year for 2018.

This excellence is achieved by bright, motivated students, inspired by highly qualified and dedicated teachers in well-resourced classrooms. The school has over 150 teaching staff, well supported by a large number of ancillary staff. A professional pastoral team of specialist tutors, boarding house staff and year heads give care and guidance, promoting student happiness. The mutual respect shared by students and staff generates a harmonious and purposeful atmosphere.

Every student is encouraged to be curious, creative, critically aware, and to develop his or her passion and talent to the full. Life is fast-paced and dynamic and expectations are high. At the same time, the school seeks to cultivate in its students the habit of reflecting on their learning, and on how they contribute to society more broadly. Ambitious and principled, confident and compassionate, our students are prepared for leadership and teamwork in the wider world.

Regular assemblies, tutor group meetings and a programme of talks develop our students' social and emotional understanding. A long tradition of voluntary service and local and international charity projects advance a core set of values throughout the School.

The Campus

The school is situated in the Kent market town of Sevenoaks, and has a prime position at the top of the High Street. The 100-acre site, which includes a number of listed buildings, is beautifully landscaped and adjoins the medieval deer park of Knole. London is only a 30-minute train journey away. Gatwick International Airport is also only 30 minutes away, and there are good transport links to other London airports and the Channel Tunnel.

The school's first-class resources and facilities include a superb sports centre (The Sennocke Centre) opened in 2005. A state-of-the-art performing arts centre (The Space), which provides four outstanding venues for music and drama, was opened in 2010. The Science & Technology Centre and a Sixth Form Global Study Centre opened in 2018, and a new boarding house should be ready for occupation by 2019.

Teaching at Sevenoaks School

We want all our students to enjoy their subjects, to be inspired by their teachers and to become independent, lifelong learners. We have an exceptionally lively, talented and committed staff body. Teachers are enthusiastic and well-qualified graduates. We welcome applications from experienced teachers and newly-qualified teachers but can also provide training including PGCE for those new to the profession. All new staff undertake a comprehensive induction programme. Sevenoaks is committed to supporting its staff with training and professional development tailored to staff needs and interests.

Teachers at Sevenoaks are innovative and forward-thinking and over 60 staff are involved in the Institutes of Teaching & Learning, Higher Education & Professional Insight, and Service & Social Impact, shaping further development and initiatives for students and staff alike.

Curriculum

All of the 400-plus Sixth Form students pursue the International Baccalaureate Diploma, a programme the school has delivered for 40 years. The Diploma represents, in the school's view, the best preparation for university and for work in a world of global competition. Even more important, it genuinely develops a rich inner life in our students, opening their minds to connections and possibilities within and across the subject disciplines.

It is no surprise that our students leave Sevenoaks to study a wide range of courses in the UK and around the world. All 220 leaving students each year progress to the world's top universities, including up to 25% to Oxford and Cambridge, and 25 or more students to leading US and international universities. They do so with an enlarged capacity for independent thought, intellectual risk-taking and strong appetite for learning which equips them with the skills and personal qualities conducive to a happy and successful life.

In order to support our ethos and aims, we have developed a number of Sevenoaks School Certificate courses, which students take instead of GCSEs, in English Literature, the Expressive Arts and Technology. The SSCs (which are externally moderated and recognised by UCAS) give teachers the independence and creative scope to shape a richly satisfying curriculum. In Years 7-11 all students take courses in critical thinking developed by the school.

The Classics Department

Classical subjects are very well established at Sevenoaks and enjoy an excellent reputation both inside and outside the school. The Classics department consists of seven teachers, including part-timers. Latin, Greek and Classical Civilisation are all taught up to GCSE and IB, and for entry to Oxford and Cambridge. We use the OCR GCSE syllabus for Latin, Greek and Classical Civilisation, and we teach Higher and Standard Level courses within the IB Diploma in the Sixth Form. The department is highly qualified, energetic, diverse in its interests and dedicated to the subject and the learning of its pupils. In the academic year 2019-20 we will be moving to a spacious newly-refurbished Classics building designed to provide a central hub for all three Classical subjects.

All pupils in Year 7 take Latin as beginners. In Year 9 Latin remains compulsory for all; we run an ab initio course for beginners new to the school, as well as continuation sets for those who have been at Sevenoaks since Year 7 and those new scholarship and Common Entrance candidates who have studied Latin before. Our Year 9 combined Latin and Greek set has proved a great success. The Cambridge Latin Course is the principal textbook used in the first three years, and John Taylor's Greek to GCSE is used by Greek students. In Years 10 and 11, normally around 50-60 students opt for Latin at GCSE, with roughly 20 of these taking Greek as well.

In the Sixth Form about 50 students in total are taking at least one Classical subject. There are currently sets for Higher Level and Standard Level Latin, and for Higher Level and Standard Level Greek, shared between all teachers. Latin and Greek are part of the Languages option at IB, and Latin remains a popular choice; we also offer Classical Greek and Roman Studies, a school-based syllabus within the Humanities section of the IB Diploma. Every year a handful of students apply to read Classics or a Classics-related degree at Oxford or Cambridge.

Outside the classroom we take trips to the British Museum and Fishbourne, attend many education lectures, university open days and productions of Classical plays both in Greek and in translation. We also invite external speakers to talk on Classical topics in school. The department runs a Year 10 visit to the Bay of Naples, a Year 9 residential to Bath, a trip to Rome for Classicists in the Lower Sixth, and an occasional cross-year trip to Greece.

The Post

The successful candidate will be an enthusiastic, imaginative and well-qualified graduate who is willing to be part of a team. We believe very strongly that Classics has an important and exciting role to play in secondary education in the 21st century. We therefore seek a candidate who will contribute fully to the work of the Classics department at Sevenoaks School, and inspire real interest in our pupils. The successful applicant will ideally be able to teach the full range of what we offer, from Year 7 to Year 13, and make a useful contribution to our efforts in promoting the work of the department. We regard the co-curricular activities of the department as very important, and we aim to recruit a colleague who will participate energetically in these.

We welcome applications from teachers new to the profession as well as those with teaching experience. The opportunity to train for PGCE may be available. The maternity leave is for a year starting after Half Term in November but a September start and/or later finish may be possible for the right candidate.

A commitment to excellent pastoral care, enriching co-curricular and outreach activities is also expected.

Information for applicants

Sevenoaks School has its own generous salary scale. Accommodation or relocation expenses may be available, and fee discounts for the children of members of staff are available (subject to the usual entry requirements). Further information about the school can be obtained from the school's extensive website: <https://www.sevenoaksschool.org/home>, including more about working at Sevenoaks <https://www.sevenoaksschool.org/about-us/vacancies/working-at-sevenoaks>.
