Transforming schools... changing lives

Epsom & Ewell
High School

Welcome from the Headteacher

Thank you for showing your interest in working at Epsom & Ewell High School, where I am immensely proud to be the Headteacher.

At Epsom & Ewell High School we recognise the importance of academic success whilst embracing our wider role in preparing students for their adult life beyond the formal examined curriculum.

With lower than average class sizes and specialist teachers in every area, the school provides a supportive yet vibrant environment through which we nurture confident, ambitious students who embrace community, tolerance and high aspiration.

Our students are challenged to think harder than they ever have before and we have created a student led learning identity to fully prepare them for the rigours of the new examination landscape. Students are encouraged to think for themselves and through their own hard work and expert support from our staff are progressing further than other students nationally.

We offer a broad and balanced curriculum and as a school encourage each student's particular abilities to ensure that no child slips through the net. The school's ethos is simple - our students are at the heart of everything we do and we truly believe that every child can achieve.

Epsom & Ewell High School is part of the Bourne Education Trust (BET). BET is a Surrey-based multi-academy Trust made up of 12 schools.

If you would like to visit the school we would be delighted to show you around. Please contact our HR department by emailing vacancies@eehs.surrey.sch.uk

Welcome from the Bourne Education Trust CEO, Alex Russell

I am very proud to be the CEO of the Bourne Education Trust ('BET') and to work with like-minded and ambitious headteachers and board members.

I look forward to an exciting future for the Trust and all its stakeholders.

Our Aim:

Committed to excellence in teaching and learning

Epsom and Ewell High School is committed to excellence in teaching and learning. We believe that there are four important building blocks to achieve this and that by excelling in all, we will achieve our core aim.

“Pupils know that teachers have high expectations of them and those in the highest-ability sets in mathematics are taught exceptionally well. Teachers continually challenge pupils and effectively target support where it is needed. Consequently, pupils feel a sense of pride in their achievements.”

Teaching

The quality of teaching at Epsom and Ewell High School has consistently been graded as good or better in externally verified teaching and learning reviews.

The training that teachers receive is high quality and relevant with a sharp focus on improving the experience for students in the classroom.

We consistently have low staff turnover which means students have excellent teachers that know the students well and foster purposeful relationships.

Our teachers undertake weekly training sessions throughout the year to ensure that their practice remains relevant, dynamic and moves with the ever changing curriculum.

Teacher training takes place during twilight sessions, outside of school hours, which minimises the impact on pupils' contact time in school.

All of our teachers are specialists in their field. Their enthusiasm for their subjects permeates their lessons and many have gained experience in industry, prior to their teaching careers.

Our teachers benefit from the opportunity to visit other schools in the trust to share best practice and gain valuable experience that they are able to bring back to the school.

Leaders and teachers have high aspirations for pupils. Teachers consistently encourage and support pupils to do their best. Pupils are provided with many opportunities to discover options available to them after leaving school. Consequently, many more pupils are now applying for places at the top universities.

“Deep Learning requires harder thinking and you need to use more brain power. Teachers push you to achieve your best.”

Ellie Cooper, Student

Learning

The school has created its own learning identity called ‘deep learning.’ Students are encouraged to use higher order thinking to develop their skills of analysis, application, creativity and evaluation.

This will be essential when preparing our students for the rigours of the new more difficult GCSEs. The focus for the 2018/19 academic year will be to embed deep learning so that it becomes ‘the way’ students learn at Epsom and Ewell High School.

Students are challenged to apply their existing knowledge to examples, scenarios or exam questions prompting students to really think about what they know and apply this to different contexts.

Students compare, categorise and investigate and really delve inside topics in order to gain a deeper understanding. Rather than giving students definitions, they might be given a piece of text to generate their own answers.

Creativity and innovation are encouraged in all lessons; whether that is creating an original idea in art and computing or speculating and theorising in science, maths and history. Students are asked to extend their ideas and really think about how a plan can be implemented.

Justifying an answer or an opinion encourages students to support their views and challenge their way of thinking. Debates and supporting answers with reasoning is a higher order skill which is evident in every lesson at EEHS.

“You have appointed a team of committed and hardworking senior leaders in education who have a sharp focus on aspects of the school that need to improve. Leaders feel empowered to fulfil their responsibilities.”

Leadership

Epsom and Ewell High School has a strong tradition of growing its own leaders. This is possible due to successful in house leadership programmes and a commitment to accelerated career development at all levels.

For the 2018/19 academic year, we have increased our leadership team. This will enable us to drive forward the strategies that we have previously introduced and allow us to be more outward looking in terms of supporting the local community and promoting our achievements.

The new junior leadership team is led by the sixth form leaders and prefects. They work specifically in one of four areas: wellbeing, teaching, learning and community. These students from all year groups are actively engaged in the running of the school as well as the wider community.

We are proud to be a partner school of Teach Southeast, a School Centred Initial Teacher Training (SCITT) provider. Through the Partnership, a high quality, bespoke programme is delivered for aspiring secondary school teachers across the South East of England.

Being part of the Bourne Education Trust allows us to work with schools of all phases. This helps us to sustain the quality of teaching in our school and others, and teachers benefit from school to school support, paired observations, bespoke training and the use of outstanding practitioners.

A culture of leadership is embedded at all stages. All staff receive quality training on constantly bettering themselves as practitioners and leaders, and are supported in improving and moving to the next step in their careers.

“The school genuinely seems to care about students’ happiness as well as their academic progress.”

John Midstone, Parent

Wellbeing

Epsom and Ewell High School is the first school in the UK to achieve the Schools Mental Health Gold Award.

We were awarded the gold standard because of our fully comprehensive support and education programmes that have broken down the stigma surrounding mental health.

As a result, we have created a school environment where students and staff are confident to fulfil their potential both in and outside of the classroom.

We know that pupils who have a positive attitude towards their learning will make good progress and be successful. Consequently, instilling all of our pupils with 'growth mind-sets' has become a key priority for the school.

We want all of our pupils to relish challenges, embrace their mistakes as part of the learning process, value the importance of effort, respond carefully to feedback and take inspiration from others. This will help them to achieve, not only with us, but also in their future lives as adults.

By taking a holistic approach to staff and pupil wellbeing we are creating a community that understands the importance of maintaining a balance between working hard to achieve success, whilst looking after our physical and mental health.

We have dedicated sessions in lessons to address what kind of learners students want to be and how we can positively approach challenges inside and outside the classroom. The school is buzzing with talk of perseverance, challenge, risks and celebrating mistakes.
