Please see the application form for further details.

Yours sincerely,

John Pickett
Headteacher

Morpeth is an eight-form entry, mixed, 11-19 comprehensive school situated in Bethnal Green, Tower Hamlets and we are very much a community. Our values are longstanding; they encapsulate the way we work and the way the school feels.

We are a community:

- committed to learning and achievement
- based on friendship and respect
- where everyone is valued.

We are proud of our diversity – we represent the wider Tower Hamlets community – and recognise that in order to make everyone feel included and valued, this requires ongoing and explicit consideration.

We prioritise the development of trust and understanding between pupils from different backgrounds; all members of staff – teaching and non-teaching – work together regularly throughout the year to develop our relational practice. As a result, visitors frequently comment on how friendly the school feels and the excellent relationships between staff and between pupils and staff. We are over-subscribed both for Year 7 and the sixth form, and have a very strong track record of recruitment and retention of teaching and support staff.

We have over 110 teaching staff, 35 Teaching Assistants, and 70 other support staff who share a strong belief in what our pupils can achieve. Our teachers are subject specialists, passionate about those subjects and keen to develop their knowledge and practice. We also place great importance on learning beyond the classroom. There is an extensive programme of extra-curricular experiences and over 150 lunchtime and after school activities offered weekly.

We are fortunate in that the entire school has been rebuilt or refurbished to a very high standard over recent years, and we have been able to invest heavily in learning resources for pupils. Schools across Tower Hamlets have a long tradition of working closely together and in recent years this has been facilitated and strengthened by the Tower Hamlets Education Partnership.

What makes us different?

Our KS4 curriculum structure

When we reviewed our KS4 curriculum in 2010 we decided that the traditional model that we offered didn't feel sufficiently flexible or tailored to our students both in terms of context and inclusion. It was 'one size fits all'. We wanted to continue to provide a rich and broad curriculum where the arts are valued alongside core academic subjects but also one that could recognise students' individual needs.

The model we have now is one that is innovative, ambitious, dynamic and responsive to students' needs. We typically offer 25 optional examined courses. Alongside core subjects, students choose two options each year in Years 9, 10 and 11, courses being one year in length, and having the equivalent time of one-day a week per course. Students will take exams at the end of the year. The majority of students will study the EBacc subjects (approximately 80%) with significantly higher than national numbers taking GCSEs in creative and expressive arts, and design technology.

Our inclusive approach

We support students by:

- focusing on both systems and practice - we recognise that we need strong systems to provide structure however, in a school that views high quality relationships as the key driver in all that we do we place an emphasis on supporting colleagues' practice;
- being trauma-informed - understanding that behaviour is a two-way language of communication;
- being compassionate - making decisions about behaviour based on the context of every child and situation;
- being data-led - using both qualitative and quantitative data helps us ask the right questions about behaviour and inclusion, in the same way as progress and attainment.

We recognise that in order to prioritise the development of positive relationships across the school, we have to build it into our structures. In September 2023, we moved to a vertical tutoring system where pupils meet three times a week in coaching circles made up of 12 pupils from Years 7 – 11.

We have 100 circles, led by coaches from across our teaching and support staff and organised into five houses. The circles and houses are fundamental to ensuring every child feels that they belong to our community.

What do we offer?

We know that to provide the best support for our pupils, we need to have staff who feel happy in their role, trusted and well-supported. Teaching staff are able to work from home for some of their PPA time, we take a positive approach to requests for flexible working, we create regular opportunities for all staff to mix socially through weekly staff circles, free staff breakfasts and our Staff Association who run events and trips throughout the year. Teachers have autonomy to plan lessons within departmental agreed curriculum plans and we have regular subject teach meets within departments with a focus on developing subject pedagogy.

We have never believed in performance-related pay, but do believe in the importance of continual professional development and in regular scheduled opportunities for staff to discuss and reflect upon their professional development across the school year. We support and encourage the full breadth of professional development opportunities – formal and informal - from external CPD, to supporting Masters level qualifications including study days and a contribution to costs, providing coaches for NPQ courses and to ongoing high-quality internal training opportunities.

“A supportive community for students and staff”

“A school with a human face, diversity is appreciated”

“High professional trust and autonomy”

“I feel respected and appreciated”

“Supportive colleagues and an opportunity to grow”

“Excellent facilities and amazing SEN provision”

“Relational practice”

“Sense of community felt within the school”

“We teach each other something every day”

“A school that thinks about all communities and promotes equality and inclusivity”

“There is always a smile waiting for you”

English Department at Morpeth School

The English department is committed to ensuring that all of our students not only achieve academic success but also develop a love of reading, writing and communicative skills. Our success in meeting this aim is evidenced by our excellent exam results and the high number of our students continuing to study English at A level.

We are a strong, stable department and pride ourselves on our shared resources and culture of collective working. There are currently fifteen teachers in the team. We know that students enjoy English lessons because of the emphasis we place on oracy and collaborative learning. As part of our commitment to ensuring that the study of English is not limited to the classroom, we host a variety of extra- curricular opportunities (for example reading clubs, film club, debating and visits from authors). As a department we are committed to mixed prior attainment teaching across all year groups.
