

WETHERBY SENIOR SCHOOL

TEACHER OF ENGLISH FROM SEPTEMBER 2018

Job Description

Wetherby Senior School, a member of the Alpha Plus Group of Schools, was founded in 2015. There are currently around 225 boys between the ages of 11 and 16 on roll, spanning Year 7 to Year 11. The School's size and reputation is growing rapidly and next year Hannah House will open only a short walk from the original building in Marylebone Village. Next year will also see the opening of our new Sixth Form Centre with purpose built accommodation for the boys.

At Wetherby Senior School we seek to employ highly professional teachers with the ability and commitment to enhance the life of this School and to work effectively and collaboratively with all members of the School community to further establish and develop the School. Our emphasis on educating the whole boy means that all members of staff, in due course, will be expected to contribute to the pastoral care of a group of students as a Tutor as well as contributing to the School's co-curricular activities.

The School was founded to offer a progressive education in the heart of London. The School's focus on an all-round education means that high standards are expected of the boys in all areas of school life. The School provides the boys with a broad educational experience, which includes Philosophy and Thinking Skills in the curriculum, to ensure that they are able to think critically and to problem solve but also to ensure they can be creative and collaborative in their approach, so that they develop a sense of social responsibility and respect for others.

Our location in the heart of London will open up exciting opportunities for teaching as the School has access to everything the City has to offer in terms of arts and culture, science and technology and business and commerce, giving our pupils the best preparation for adult life in an ever changing world.

The post represents an exciting opportunity for a teacher with the necessary vision and ambition to help the School offer a first rate academic education for boys. As a teacher at Wetherby you will have the opportunity to build your experience of working with a team of specialists and to develop the teaching of English in interesting and innovative ways, with the support of the Head of English. The post would suit a talented newly qualified teacher or one with a couple of years' experience looking to develop their careers but applications are, of course, welcome from more experienced colleagues who would like the freedom and challenge of working in a newly-established school. Teaching staff at Wetherby Senior School have experience of teaching in both the maintained and independent sectors and colleagues looking to move into independent education are warmly encouraged to apply.

The English Department

The English Department at Wetherby is made up of six subject specialists who, between them, have a breadth of experience teaching in and leading similar departments at some of London's top independent day schools. Each teacher contributes different expertise to the department, whether it be their experience as a Times journalist or in-depth knowledge of both Post-colonial and American Literature.

Boys in Years 7-9 have four periods of English per week. Lessons are based around the study of a variety of fiction and non-fiction texts, from Shakespeare to Dystopian Fiction, Contemporary Poetry to persuasive speeches. As well as developing our boys into critical, independent readers and learners through the study of such texts, we also use them as a springboard to develop the boys' writing skills. All boys study CIE English Language and English Literature IGCSE, after which they have the option to continue their studies at A Level.

In the English Department, we understand that some boys make progress more quickly than others so we provide a weekly lunchtime 'SPAG Clinic' to support those in Years 7-9 with their technical writing skills. Furthermore, every Wednesday morning before school we host an 'Intervention Club' for Year 10 and 11 boys who may be struggling with a component of the IGCSE, or are just eager to receive extra support. Conversely, we have created a 'KS4 Challenge Club' which takes a select group of boys on thought-provoking theatre and cinema trips in order to expose them to more challenging material beyond the curriculum.

Boys can get involved with English-related clubs as part of the Activities Programme, and will take part in school, local and national competitions during the course of the year. 'Ink, Wetherby's very own creative writing magazine, showcases a range of original work from all year groups. There is a regular programme of visiting authors and writers and whole school celebrations of literary events, such as National Poetry Day and World Book Day. Our location in the heart of London means that we can host a wide range of visiting authors and workshops including the Globe Players, and a dramatized version of 'Spies' by Michael Frayn, a set text at IGCSE. We also regularly take advantage of our excellent location and take the boys to a range of theatre productions across London, a recent example by being a trip to a production of 'Macbeth' at The Globe Theatre.
