Message from the Head of RMS

Dear Applicant,

Thank you for considering a position at RMS for Girls. I very much hope that reading this information pack will encourage you to make a formal application. Of course, before doing so you will wish to gather as much information as possible about the school and I'm sure that you will explore our website and perhaps even read our latest inspection report.

But that will all only provide you with part of the picture. It is often only when you arrive at a school that you get that gut feeling that tells you that it "just feels right". I joined RMS four years ago and from the moment I walked through the door, I knew that it was the school for me.

RMS is spectacularly beautiful and, when you first arrive here, it is hard not to be seduced by the impressive architecture and our glorious grounds. We are all incredibly proud of our stunning surroundings and the sense of history that pervades the school. It would be correct to say that we are steeped in tradition and never more so than when Drill takes place in the Michaelmas Term each year. But it is equally true to say there is nothing stuffy or old fashioned about RMS. We are a modern, forward thinking school, working to help our girls to prepare for the challenges of a world that is evolving at a pace that none of us could have envisaged just a few years ago.

As I walk around the school, I am constantly struck by our pupils' verve and zest for life. They are incredibly proud to be RMS girls and their energy not only drives what we do but is also highly infectious. A quick look at our Twitter feeds will show you that there is no such thing as an average day at RMS. We know every pupil as an individual and we ensure that every pupil thrives. The breadth and depth of opportunity available to the girls is extraordinary and, over the time that they are with us, it is a joy to watch their confidence grow as they fully embrace the many experiences the school offers. But, just as importantly, they are kind, thoughtful and compassionate young women. And they work hard with a commitment to self-improvement. New academic staff always comment on how much they are enjoying their time in the classroom and the joy of marking RMS homework. Yes, this last statement is genuinely true! RMS pupils wish to succeed and do well, and helping them is wonderfully rewarding.

Message from the Head of RMS

So what else can you expect if you were to join RMS? Well, we absolutely value our staff. Good teachers are ever more difficult to recruit and we firmly believe in giving all our colleagues opportunities to develop their careers within the school. External CPD is important, but we also offer internal training such as our Emerging and Developing Leaders who are helping to drive change whilst broadening their own skill sets.

And, there is no shortage of innovation here. RMS Edge, our inspirational Sixth Form programme, is a perfect example of what we do best in providing pupils with a rounded sixth form experience that prepares them for the twenty-first century and that also ensures they have ambition, drive and high expectations of themselves.

Many of our staff live on site, we have fifty residential properties spread around the grounds, and RMS has a strong family ethos. There are young staff who have come here as NQTs as well as many experienced teachers who have a wealth of wisdom and experience which they are happy to share. For those who want the bright lights, thirty minutes on the tube will get you to Central London, and for those who don't, a walk around our 315 acres of parkland on a summer evening is hard to beat. We are a friendly bunch and you would be made to feel very welcome very quickly whether you live on site or not.

Finally, in a highly competitive market and despite the pandemic, RMS continues to thrive. In 2021, 52 of our pupils went on to Russell Group universities, five to Oxbridge and 85% of A Levels taken were awarded A* to B grades. We are excited about the prospects for the next few years as we work together to move the school forwards.

I do hope that you will decide to make an application to join us on that journey and to come in to see the school for yourself so that we will have the chance to meet in person.

Very best wishes,

Kevin Carson, Head of RMS

The School

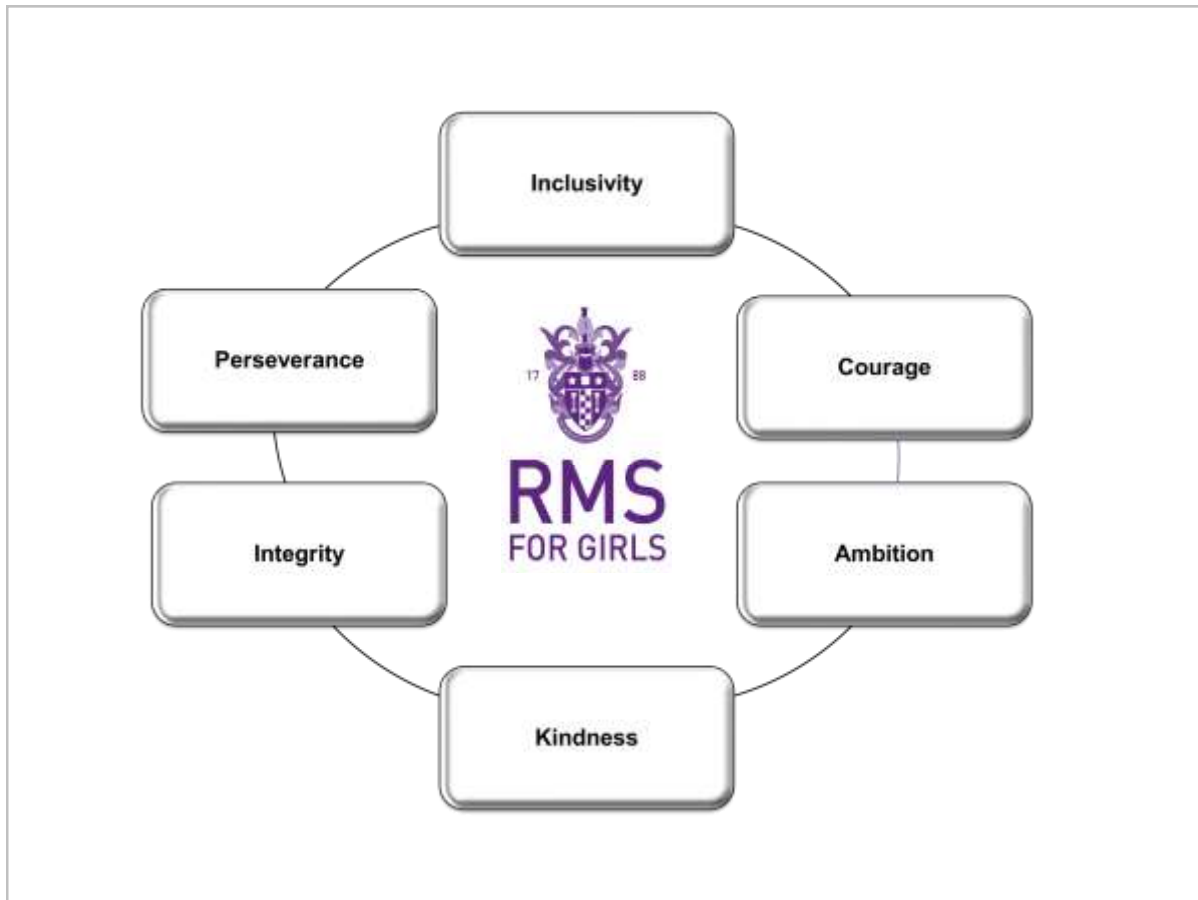

RMS has an exceptional, unusual and distinguished history. One of the oldest girls' schools in the country, the School was founded by Chevalier Ruspini in 1788 with the purpose of educating the daughters of Freemasons who were unable to support their families through death, illness or disability. The School started with fifteen pupils and a matron in Somers Place in East London and moved twice within London until it finally settled in the magnificent grounds of Rickmansworth Park in 1934. The School became an open fee paying school in 1978 and accepts girls from all backgrounds and faiths. The majority of families associated with the School have no links with Freemasonry, with our name now largely being a reference to our past.

RMS is a day and boarding school, attracting day girls from across Hertfordshire, Buckinghamshire, Middlesex and North London, and boarders from all over the world. It is located within easy reach of Central London (30 minutes by train/underground), and is just under a mile from Junction 18 of the M25 motorway.

The School comprises Ruspini House Pre School for boys and girls aged 2 to 4, Cadogan House Pre Prep and Prep Department for girls aged 4 to 11, the Senior School, and Hind House Sixth Form Centre. The School currently has around 951 pupils, of whom 46 are in the Pre School, 214 are in the Pre Prep/Prep Department, 539 in the Senior School and 152 in the fully comprehensive Sixth Form. Entry is by examination/interview at 4+, 11+, 13+ and 16+, with a few girls joining us at other times if places are available.

Our public examination results are consistently impressive, and around 99% of girls leave RMS to take up places at university, 90% at their institution of first choice.

Our Values

The RMS Values are embedded in the School's ethos and, as a community, they underpin the way we work, learn and grow together. There are six core values and the emphasis on these permeates every aspect of the life of the school. Pupils who demonstrate putting them into action in their daily life are recognised and rewarded. The Ashlar is a 'polished cornerstone' and it is a valued award given to girls in recognition of their hard work, demonstration of the school values and contributions to school life.

Our teachers describe the girls as willing learners who ask lots of questions, not because they haven't been listening, but because they have boundless intellectual curiosity and the confidence to question and explore beyond the curriculum. The pastoral team are very strong and so issues are picked up quickly and the focus is on nurturing the whole child not simply their academic performance. The broad co-curricular offer at the school and the small class sizes mean that teachers get to know each girl well and can become more actively involved in what they are doing outside the classroom.

Perhaps the greatest endorsement of this approach comes from talking to teachers who have recently joined RMS who typically make comments like, "not only are the girls respectful, they are excited to come to my lessons and are full of life". A Head of Department who joined the team recently feels that because the girls are attentive, there is space in lessons to go beyond the curriculum and do things that he wouldn't have considered in his previous job. Another said, "working at RMS goes beyond my expectations, your days glide by and teaching here is a really rewarding and positive experience".

It is with enormous pride that, as a team, both academic and support staff work together to inspire our pupils to discover their passions and personal voice to enable them to forge their own unique futures as successful women of the 21st century.

Our Pupils

Life at RMS is centred around much more than just academic success, and the School is well known for its exceptional pastoral care, the wealth of extra-curricular opportunities it offers, and its commitment to a values-based education. By offering a nurturing, inclusive and supportive environment where each child is esteemed as an individual, capable of success, we encourage our pupils to become happy and aspirational learners from their early years in Ruspini House all the way through the School to the Sixth Form in Hind House.

As Miranda Conn and Evie Ingles, recent Head Girls, put it, “At RMS, students develop the confidence to challenge themselves. We’re supported in taking every opportunity that we’re presented with, both academically and in the very wide range of extra-curricular activities on offer. We are encouraged to be intellectually curious learners, and so enjoy engaging in discussions in lessons and exploring new ideas with our teachers. In addition, something that every student and staff member at RMS will comment on is the strong sense of community; we are supportive and inclusive (and have a good sense of fun), all sharing a common goal of becoming moral, well-rounded people. As such, we focus on core values such as responsibility and compassion, and aim to develop the transferrable skillset that will allow us embrace life’s challenges with confidence.”

The Independent Schools Inspectorate visited in September 2017 and assessed the school as being “excellent” in all areas for the Educational Quality Inspection; this is the highest judgement that a school can be awarded. “Pupils’ attitudes to learning are excellent; they take control of their learning, relish challenge, and develop confidence, self-belief and a love of learning.”

The report also states that the school “successfully meets its aim to produce young women who have great self-belief, are self-aware and take the values of the school with them so that they are well placed to be outstanding citizens of the 21st century.”

The Classics Department

The Classics Department is keen to make the study of the ancient world as engaging and relevant as possible, reaching the widest range of students we can. All students study Latin in Year 7, benefitting from an introduction via the Cambridge Latin Course Book 1. The course takes students to the ancient Roman city of Pompeii and explores the customs of the time as well as teaching linguistic competence in the language. Currently, students may choose to continue their study of Latin in Years 8 and 9, and will choose their GCSE options in the middle of Year 9. The Department uses the Cambridge Latin Course Book 2 in Year 8 and is currently experimenting with a number of different textbooks for Year 9 to prepare the students for GCSE. GCSE uptake for Latin in Years 10 and 11 is currently strong, and the Department delivers its own scheme of work to prepare students for the OCR GCSE, using Taylor's Latin Stories and Carter's Latin Momentum Tests for GCSE as translation exercises. At RMS, students study a verse and prose set text, which is decided by the class teacher according to the students' and their own interest.

At A Level, the Department offers OCR A Levels in Latin and Classical Civilisation. We usually see a small number of very eager students continue their Latin education at A Level and many of these pursue Classical degrees in Higher Education. Classical Civilisation is proving more and more popular among our Sixth Form students. Currently, the Department offers the compulsory World of the Hero module (teaching Homer's Odyssey), the Greek Theatre module and the Greek Religion module. However, the modules are always subject to change based on the interests of the set and the teachers, making this a particularly attractive option for students. Subject to interest, the Department also teaches particularly interested Latin students in KS4 Classical Greek off timetable, currently working towards the OCR GCSE.

Outside the classroom, we are especially keen to foster links with universities and with other schools, and to take opportunities for visits to sites and events of classical interest. Recent visits have included trips to the UCL and KCL Greek plays, Pompeii and Fishbourne Palace; and we have an upcoming trip to Rome. Visiting speakers and presentations have also proved popular and successful. The Classics Society, a weekly lunchtime extra-curricular club, is wildly popular with students from all year groups, regardless of the subjects they study. As a Department, we are friendly, approachable and an important part of an education at RMS; we are visible throughout the school, whether our students are destined for Oxbridge Classics or for merely a taste of Latin in Year 7. We believe that every student will find something to take away from Classical culture to stimulate them and broaden their horizons.

The Role

The Classics Department is forward thinking and keen to show students the relevance of Classics in the modern world. Recent examination results have been excellent, and uptake is increasing rapidly. We are looking for an enthusiastic, well-qualified Classicist to join this small but thriving department, known for its open and friendly demeanour.

This post would be ideally suited to an individual who is passionate about their subject and Classical education; we are strongly committed to the idea that Classics can be made fun and relevant to everyone. The ideal candidate would be one who has consistently proven their dedication to their subject and the widening of access to the Classical world.

Working with an experienced Head of Department, the successful candidate can expect to teach across the full range of ages and abilities, whilst continuing their own professional development within a very supportive environment. This post would be suitable for both experienced teachers and ECTs.

The successful candidate must be highly motivated, show commitment to self-improvement and to the extracurricular life of the department and that of the school.
