OVERVIEW

The School is seeking an enthusiastic and highly skilled Head of Modern Languages to lead and develop an ambitious, inspiring, and academically rigorous Modern Languages department.

The successful candidate will be a passionate educator, able to inspire pupils and staff and committed to high academic standards, including preparation for Common Entrance, Scholarship and Senior School entrance exams, ensuring outstanding provision in French, as the core language, with the capacity to offer one or two additional languages.

The Head of Modern Languages will bring strategic leadership, excellent subject knowledge, and a passion for promoting language learning across the School.

French is introduced to boys from Reception, with an increasing focus as they progress through the School. The curriculum emphasises the four essential language skills: listening, speaking, reading, and writing. From the early stages, boys are encouraged to develop their pronunciation and fluency, with lessons tailored to their abilities. Listening and responding in the target language are central to the teaching approach, with support provided in English to ensure clear understanding. Written French plays a crucial role in reinforcing grammar and vocabulary, evolving from simple exercises to free expression as boys expand their vocabulary and grasp of grammatical structures.

As boys enter the Middle and Senior School, they engage with more advanced materials and regular aural sessions to build their confidence and competence. Preparation for Year 8 assessments and Senior School entry exams incorporates authentic texts and past papers. The results are a testament to the School's high standards, with many boys excelling at Scholarship level and achieving top awards such as the Tonbridge Knightley Scholarship for Languages. By the time boys leave, most are well-prepared to join the highest sets for French at their next school, equipped with strong language skills and a solid foundation in modern languages.
