

Are you ready for BMAT?

An introduction to who we are and what we stand for Supporting primary and secondary schools across Essex and East London, BMAT is a growing multi-academy trust with a singular vision...

- Schools, teachers and pupils freed to succeed.

The BMAT Story

I never set about to start a Multi-Academy Trust. That simply wasn't the plan – at least not at first.

The journey towards that end began back in 2010 at Burnt Mill Academy in Harlow. At that time, this was a secondary school in dire straits, with just 27 per cent of students achieved five or more A* – C grades for GCSE.

To put it bluntly, it was a failing school.

When I arrived in the Summer of 2010, I knew that turning the school around would depend more than anything else on this: having excellent teachers motivated by what their children could achieve.

With that vision and focus in our minds, we went about reversing the fortunes of the school and its students. Within a year, the GCSE results leapt to 55 per cent of students securing five or more A* – C grades – the best results in Harlow. By the time Ofsted visited in 2012, inspectors were genuinely wowed and we received an upgrade from Satisfactory to Outstanding.

Inspired by what we were seeing our students achieve – and with the gentle nudging of the Department for Education – we decided to embark on a mission to build a MAT for schools in need of a turnaround in the local area.

We quickly welcomed four Harlow-based primary schools – Freshwaters Primary Academy, Cooks Spinney Primary Academy & Nursery, Roydon Primary Academy and Little Parndon Primary Academy – into the family.

Above all, we remain committed to our core purpose: to lift the ceiling off our children and inspiring them to discover new possibilities.

Regardless of the next chapter of our story, that heartbeat will remain the same.

CEO of BMAT

We are BMAT

05

At BMAT, we believe in freedom.
In lifting the ceiling off our children.
In letting our teachers truly teach.
In letting our schools express who they are.

To be part of BMAT is to be part of something bigger.
It means joining with a multi-site team of talented teachers and support staff.
It means courageously and generously exercising your gifts.

Above all, it means sharing a common vision of what we are building: a place where teachers and children are freed to succeed.

Are you ready to be part of BMAT?

To work together to smash through the barriers that prevent our children
from becoming confident,
high achieving and independent individuals.

The BMAT Vision and Values

Our Vision

To run a community of schools which provide an outstanding education for every individual attending a Trust school.

Our schools will be places of aspiration, where individuals matter and confidence flourishes so that achievement for all is outstanding.

Our Values

Courageous actions

We are courageous enough to make the tough decision, to do what's right, even if it's not what's popular.

High expectations

We are unswerving in expecting excellence of our teachers and more of our children – be that for behaviours, relational skills or academic results.

Servant leadership

We treat each other as peers, not superiors, and choose to adopt a leadership style that asks: 'How can I help?'

The BMAT Structure

The BMAT Way

09

Here at BMAT, we have a way of doing things – a culture, an approach that runs through the Trust and which marks each of our schools as ‘BMAT schools’.

No limits attitude to children

We believe that no child should be limited by where they’ve come from; that every child within the BMAT family deserves the chance to move on from where they are now to somewhere better. This belief – this attitude – is a non-negotiable for us here at BMAT.

Letting our teachers truly teach

We believe in letting our teachers do what they’re best at – teach. Our experience is that a strict scheme of works and carbon copy approach doesn’t work. Why? Because, ultimately,

The woman on the right is slightly behind her, also in a similar jersey, with her arms raised in a defensive stance. The background is a blurred outdoor setting with trees and a fence. instinctive teaching is the kind of teaching that will inspire a child to see and discover new possibilities.

Local schools with local personalities

We are not in the business of making every school in our network look like each other. In fact, we celebrate the personality and character of each school that joins our network. Local schools by nature have local personalities – and we aren't afraid of that.

A close network of accessible peers

Joining the Trust or a local BMAT school means being part of something bigger than a single entity. It means being part of a network of peers; a large team of people within close proximity of each other, each of whom stands ready to share their expertise and provide support in times of need.

The BMAT Promise

So what can BMAT offer you, an aspiring teacher or professional looking to develop their career within the education sector?

Of course there is the 'package' – salary, annual leave, pension contributions, term-time working, childcare vouchers, etc. But the heart of what we offer our employees is not a set of terms and conditions. It is a bold promise – with five clear strands:

Participate in a vision

Regardless of role or location, every employee at BMAT is compelled by a common vision: to lift the ceiling off our children and inspiring them to discover new possibilities. We offer the passion and energy that this shared belief in what is possible brings.

Delight in success

BMAT is currently the top performing Trust in the UK for Primary outcomes. We have an exceptional record of teaching and academic results, often in the midst of challenging local circumstances. Come and taste success, and delight in what that means for our children.

Pursue new opportunities

We are courageous promoters here at BMAT. If we see potential – and there is an opportunity – we won't hesitate to move the right people into the right positions of responsibility, and quickly. Our network of schools in close proximity, along with our acclaimed teaching school, offers the perfect seedbed for personal and professional development.

Contribute to a peer network

Unlike many growing Multi-Academy Trusts, BMAT is marked by the clear geographical proximity of its schools, a feature that allows for collaboration and relationship of the kind few MATs can offer.

At BMAT, we share what we have with each other – whether experience, specialist teachers, or specialist resources. It is simply part of our DNA; the way things are done around here.

Build your career

We are still a relatively young Multi-Academy Trust having begun our journey as recently as 2013. This means new schools, growing schools, new staff – in short, we are a Trust on the move and are always looking for talented, committed people to help us forge the path ahead. Come build your career by helping us build our network of schools.

I'm passionate about giving people opportunities when they come to BMAT. My vision is that this is a place where people can fulfil their dream of helping children be all that they can be, whilst at the same time experiencing success for themselves.

I was originally employed as an unqualified teacher. When we became part of BMAT, it really paved the way for people – myself included – to progress their careers. We've also really benefited from the culture of professional development we have, which I think is quite unique.

There's also a really good sharing culture here. We share staff, we share resources, we share equipment. There's a real sense that you don't have to struggle by yourself.

I'd never worked in education but when I came for interview, Mike Ford (Financial Controller) did a great job of selling BMAT. It seemed like somewhere I could push myself, achieve personal life goals. I could see myself growing with the Trust, as the Trust continues to grow.

I felt very welcomed from the start. Everyone is very friendly – it's a tight-knit community and really open environment. Even teachers regularly end up popping in for a chat! I also like that no idea is a bad idea. You don't always get that where you work...

It's all happened extremely fast for me. I joined as an unqualified teaching assistant and within 5 years found myself as an Assistant Head! The Trust is really good at spotting people who will work hard and have potential early on. My story really isn't that unusual within BMAT.

What I really like about BMAT is that all the schools are close together. It gives a sense of family and community, and allows other schools to really support each other – which is fantastic. I honestly don't think you'll find these sorts of opportunities and support somewhere else that you will get here. It's very rare...

I decided to come back to Burnt Mill Academy in 2012 after a stint of teaching practice two years earlier. It was the best thing I ever did for my career. Every year since I've received a new line of responsibility or qualification. Working across the Trust, the opportunities and support to push I've received have been amazing.

Being part of BMAT means being able to give students high quality experiences that wouldn't otherwise be available to them. As a teacher, you don't have to be a jack of all trades to deliver that – you just need to know who to draw upon.

- Know when and how to differentiate appropriately, using approaches which enable students to be taught effectively.
- Set homework and plan other out-of-class activities to consolidate and extend the knowledge and understanding students have acquired.
- Have clear rules and routines for behaviour in classrooms, and take responsibility for promoting good and courteous behaviour both in classrooms and around the school, in accordance with the school's behaviour policy.
- Have a clear understanding of the needs of all students, including those with special education needs, those of high ability, those with English as an additional language, those with disabilities and be able to use and evaluate distinctive teaching approaches to engage and support them.
- To impart knowledge and develop understanding through effective use of lesson time.
- To take responsibility for improving teaching through appropriate professional development, responding to advice and feedback from colleagues.
- Understand how to assess the relevant subject and curriculum areas, including statutory assessment requirements.

Main Expectations of the role

- Being aware of students' capabilities, their prior knowledge, and plan teaching to build on these.
- Guide students to reflect on the progress they have made and their emerging needs.
- Demonstrate a clear understanding of appropriate teaching strategies.
- Demonstrate an awareness of the physical, social and intellectual development of children and know how to adapt teaching to support students' education at different stages of development.
- Develop effective professional relationships with colleagues, knowing how and when to draw on advice and specialist support.
- Encourage students to take a responsible and conscientious attitude to their own work and study.
- Establish a safe and stimulating environment for students, rooted in mutual respect.
- Have high expectations of behaviour and establish a framework for discipline with a range of strategies, using praise, sanctions and rewards consistently and fairly.
- Promote a love of learning and children's intellectual curiosity.
- Support strategies to promote high standards of behaviour.
- Manage classes effectively, using approaches which are appropriate to students' needs in order to involve and motivate them.

Additional duties:

- To play a full part in the life of the School community, to support its distinctive mission and ethos and to encourage staff and students to follow this example.
- To develop a calm learning atmosphere by completing lunch duties each week as required by the Executive Head or the Head of School.
- To support student progress by completing one homework club session and/or one Science enrichment/booster session after school each week as required by the Executive Head or Head of School.

Other specific duties:

- To continue personal development as agreed.
- To assist with the carrying out of risk assessments as appropriate
- To ensure that Health and Safety policies and procedures are followed
- To actively engage in the performance review process.
- To undertake any other duty as specified by the Executive Head or the Co-Heads of School not mentioned in the above
- To comply with the School's Health and Safety Policy and undertake Risk Assessments as appropriate.
- To be aware of and work in accordance with the school's child protection policies and procedures, and to raise any concerns relating to such procedures which may be noted during the course of duty.

The duties above are neither exclusive nor exhaustive and the post-holder may be required by the Executive Head & Head of School to carry out appropriate duties within the context of the job, skills and grade.

General responsibilities common to all members of staff

All staff are responsible for the safeguarding and wellbeing of pupils and must follow BMAT guidance and policies.

BMAT Directors are committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people and expect all staff and volunteers to share in this commitment.

This job description will be reviewed annually and may be subject to amendment or modification at any time after consultation with the post-holder.
