General Information

We strive to be the “best we can be through courtesy, enterprise and endeavour”.

With over 960 students on roll, William Brookes School is a successful school situated in the picturesque town of Much Wenlock. Approximately ten miles from the centre of Shrewsbury, the school serves a community of small villages and the bigger town of Broseley. Academic standards at the school are high and frequently among the highest in the county, thanks to highly motivated staff, children who wish to learn and parents who support them. Our high standards are maintained by caring and creating a climate of trust and mutual support between all who work in the school, ensuring all students leave with qualifications and skills needed for a successful life.

We have the privilege of being the only Coubertin School in Great Britain. We were awarded this prestigious status in 1999 when we were asked to become a founder member because of our strong links with the modern Olympics. Pierre de Coubertin, who is heralded as the creator of the modern-day Olympic Games, was inspired by a visit to Much Wenlock in 1890 as the guest of Dr William Penny Brookes. Coubertin was a French philosopher who believed in educating the whole body and mind. We value this in our present school beliefs.

The school underwent a complete rebuild in 2010 making it the only school in the Shropshire local authority to have a building fully equipped for 21st century learning, although we continually look to improve our excellent facilities and resources for learning. We also have a large Leisure Centre, swimming pool and 3G pitch, which are jointly managed and available for use by students and staff during the day. We have a strong commitment to the Performing Arts and have excellent facilities inside the Edge Arts centre for public and school performances.

Social Studies

We are looking to form a new department of Social Studies which will include RS, PSHE, Psychology, Health & Social Care and Philosophy & Ethics. These areas are currently taught by 4 subject specialists and we hope to link the teaching of PSHE and RS at KS3 into a more integrated programme that connects the learning but allows for each specialism to be maintained at KS4. At KS5 it would be desirable to be able to teach either A level Psychology or Level 3 BTEC Health & Social Care.

There are opportunities for team teaching and for accommodating visiting speakers for more than one group, with a 90-seat lecture theatre available on the ground floor. Some teaching spaces have interactive whiteboards ('Smartboards') and we have various devices available to support curriculum delivery including laptops and iPads. Resources are in plentiful supply and mainly electronic.

2019 Exam Results

GCSE:

- 75% of all exam grades were 9-4
- 71% of students gained grades 9-4 in English & Maths
- Attainment 8 score of 4.71

A level:

- 40% were grades B or above
- 70% were grades C or above
- 98% of all exams were passed at A*-E
- William Brookes School is one of the top performing Sixth Forms in the county

Job Description

Purpose of the Post:

- To teach Psychology at KS5 or BTec Health & Social Care
- To support the School's aims and maximise the achievement of all students in Social Studies

Accountable for:

- Curriculum delivery and student progress and achievement, within the Social Studies department - and within the wider school, where relevant.

Details:

We are seeking to appoint a talented, creative teacher who can provide inspirational and innovative learning experiences and who would be confident in the teaching of controversial issues within the KS3 and 4 programmes of study in both PSHCE and RS and Psychology or Level 3 BTec Health & Social Care.

The KS3 PSHCE programme includes topics such as:

- Relationship and sex education
- Managing Risk – personal safety, substance misuse
- Finance and Careers
- Conflict and resolution
- Rights and Responsibilities

All students have one hour of PSHCE at KS4 to further develop their knowledge and skills building on the KS3 programme.

We are one of a few schools in Shropshire that offers students the opportunity to choose the AQA full GCSE in Citizenship studies, providing students with knowledge and skills for the future. This is based around the four themes of:

- Democracy
- The Justice system
- Global issues and sustainability
- Active Citizenship

Students examine their relationships and the impact that they have upon their local, national and global communities through project-based activities. These provide exciting experiential opportunities to work with many outside agencies to develop skills and concepts.

A level Psychology students follow the AQA syllabus. In year 1 they cover Memory, Social Psychology, Attachment, Psychopathology, research methods and different approaches to explaining behaviour. In year 2, students look at Schizophrenia, Forensic Psychology, issues and debates within psychology and Gender.

There will also be the opportunity to teach RS and PSHCE at KS3.

Additional Details:

The successful candidate will also join Sydney Houses as a Tutor to a vertical tutor group of approximately 25 students, plus intervention tutors. You will display a commitment to ensuring students of all abilities work to the highest standards and are able to make excellent progress.

ICT permeates all that we do, with a mixture of interactive whiteboards and dual projection rooms. Each Learning Zone also has a range of hardware, from iPads to laptops as well as other devices that enhance the quality of lessons. We actively use our own portal as a communication and resource tool and have a real desire to build on this virtual learning platform for enhanced home access by staff, students and their parents.

Key Responsibilities
