- Achieve personal fulfilment through self-discipline and strive for excellence
- Acquire knowledge and skills for a rapidly changing world of work
- Respect the achievements of others
- Respond to others' needs in the school, family and wider community

Educational care

Strategic planning, focused intervention and rigorous monitoring and evaluation are key to a pupil's successful education. As a 3-13 Prep school, we are a pivotal step between pre-school and senior school and by carefully tracking pupils' progress, extra-curricular activities and other interests we are able to support parents in the selection of the right senior school for their child. This includes:

- all pupils base lined assessed upon entry to our school so that realistic targets can be set and specific mileposts implemented to monitor progress
- a comprehensive experience of all central London day schools as well as links with boarding schools across the country
- an experienced staff with the knowledge, understanding and compassion to ensure that each child receives the right education and makes the move to the right school
- a broad range of extra-curricular and special interest school events to broaden every child's interests and experiences

Pastoral Care

Our school ethos is 'We care for each other.' For pupils to excel in their studies, it is vital that they possess a sense of security, belonging and confidence. Every member of staff is committed to working, in partnership with parents, towards achieving this aim:

- An open-door policy means regular communications between home and school are strongly encouraged and have a positive effect upon children's happiness and progress
- Excellent behaviour and high expectations of personal and social conduct prepare our children to become effective contributors in a global community
- A 'learning how we can be excellent learners' skills programme is embedded throughout our curriculum, enabling children to learn as much about themselves as the world about them
- Excellent links with a variety of central London multi-agency providers provides swift, effective and caring referral to support pupils' academic, social and emotional development

HISTORY OF THE SCHOOL

The Hampshire School's home is in the former Chelsea Library in central London, awe inspiring premises that also served as the library for King's College and are now Grade II listed buildings.

The Hampshire School was founded in Surrey by Mrs June Hampshire in 1928. The school moved to Knightsbridge in 1933 and is now on two sites, the Early Years at 5 Wetherby Place and the Main School at 15 Manresa Road. Mrs Hampshire's daughter, Jane Box Grainger succeeded her mother as Principal in 1961. Mr Arthur Bray took the helm as Principal in 1986 and after a long period of service was succeeded by, Stephen J Chynoweth in 2011. Since January 2014, Mr. Dónal Brennan joined as the Headmaster.

In 2004, the school underwent comprehensive structural improvements under new management. The original architectural features of the building were sympathetically incorporated into the design of the present state-of-the-art school. The library's reading room is now the assembly hall/gym, while the original galleried reference library now serves as the school's library. The former 'Queen Victoria library' was converted into an extensively equipped science laboratory, one of the best of any preparatory school in London.

The school also has a purpose-built Music and Drama room named 'The Anne and Susan Hampshire Music and Drama room' after June Hampshire's other daughters Anne (who was Head of Music at the school) and Susan Hampshire OBE, the distinguished actress.

In addition to the dedicated Art and Design studio and ICT suite, there is a suite of rooms on the second floor for Years VII and VIII. The kitchen is fully equipped to provide a five course banquet for up to 160 guests.

The Hampshire School is accredited by the Independent Schools Inspectorate (ISI) and is a member of the Independent Schools' Council (ISC). The Headmaster is a member of the Independent Schools' Association (ISA).
