Moreton Hall

est. 1913

You may have preconceptions about what a traditional boarding school education is like – but Moreton Hall is a school like no other.

From the moment you enter the 100 acres of school grounds, you can embrace the 'Moreton Magic' and discover the infectious positivity and energy which is threaded through the classrooms, across the sports pitches and onto the stage.

One of the many things which makes us so special is that there is no typical Moretonian; we are a wonderful community, bound together with a strong set of shared values, whilst each of us maintains our own individuality.

Success comes in many different forms and our aim is to celebrate and acknowledge this. Our pupils excel across all areas of school life and take advantage of the myriad of opportunities. They are encouraged to take responsibility for themselves and develop skills such as public speaking and entrepreneurship during their time with us. Our pupils are self-confident and self-reliant without being arrogant. They are generous with their support of each other and of the community and their imagination knows no bounds.

Moreton has long been a values-driven school with a strong family ethos, right back to its foundation by Ellen Lloyd-Williams in 1913. With appropriate respect to our heritage and looking ahead to the future, we continue to consider how we can make the school even better for those who call it their second home.

This is truly a remarkable place and I look forward to welcoming you to Moreton.

Michael Brewer
Principal
