Start Date: September 2021 or earlier

- Highly competitive salary (+ Inner London supplement)

An exciting opportunity has arisen to lead our successful Computer Science department through the next stage of its development. Computer science is a core subject at key stage 3 and is a popular subject choice at GCSE. A vocational IT course is also offered to a small group of students at key stage 4. We also offer Computer Science at A level (AS and A2) and many students go on to study the subject at the elite Russell Group Universities, including Oxbridge. Outcomes at both GCSE and A Level are consistently good.

The successful applicant will play a key role in further developing the subject at key stages 4 and 5 and be an outstanding classroom practitioner with the vision to be creative, the passion to motivate, and the subject-knowledge to challenge and inspire. You will be a strong leader, be ambitious for the further development of the department, and be committed to its wider provision (including exchanges, study visits and a programme of extension and enrichment).
