TEACHING AND LEARNING.

The Old School Henstead is driven by our determination to provide pupils with a tailor-made learning experience of the highest standard. Whilst focussing on the core subjects, the teaching at The Old School Henstead is committed to ensuring that every pupil maximises his or her potential through inspiring, motivating and enriching learning opportunities. Our curriculum is designed to inspire and challenge all pupils, with teaching adapted to meet the varying needs of our students.

We aim to teach children how to grow into positive, responsible people, who can work and co-operate with others, whilst developing knowledge and skills in order to achieve their true potential. Above all, we believe in making learning fun. We believe in engendering a love of lifelong learning in every child that passes through the school.

Small class sizes, excellent teaching and an insistence on traditional values of hard work and good manners help all pupils at The Old School Henstead to achieve high academic standards.

We cater for pupils of all abilities, offering specialist support where needed at both ends of the ability spectrum.

In Early Years (Reception) and the Lower School (Years 1 and 2), the children are taught in their class base by their class teacher for the majority of subjects. In the Upper School, from Year 3 onwards, subjects are taught by a wider range of subject teachers.

Detailed Curriculum Maps for Years 1 to 6 can be found on the school's website.

Assessment

Assessment for Learning plays a vital role in ensuring that every pupil makes excellent progress. We encourage pupils to take responsibility for their own learning, to be involved as far as possible in reviewing the way they learn, and to reflect on how they learn – what helps them learn and what makes it difficult for them to learn.

We ensure that every child knows where they currently are in their learning and what they need to do in order to improve. Assessment takes many forms at The Old School Henstead: from informal classroom discussions and the marking of pupils' work to the data provided by thorough standardised assessments. We believe that to really assess children, you must first try to understand them for who they are – individuals.

PASTORAL.

Assemblies

Assemblies are an important starting point of the day at The Old School Henstead. Our assemblies are designed to inspire pupils to appreciate all that life has to offer and to settle for nothing less than their very best. Every morning children from Reception upwards attend assemblies which are themed – on a termly basis – around the Christian ethos and core values of the school. In addition to whole school assemblies, there are also House assemblies, Show and Tell assemblies and pupil-led form assemblies.

Forms

The Form Teacher (Early Years and Lower School) or Form Tutor (Upper School) plays a vital role in the daily life of each pupil. The Form Teachers and Tutors are the first point of contact for any queries or concerns.

Pupils are registered by the Form Teachers and Tutors every morning and spend time together at the end of each day. Contact with Form Teachers and Tutors is encouraged and can be arranged through the school planner (Years 3 to 6), message book (Reception to Year 2), via email or in person at the beginning or end of day. Regular form tasks and updates are posted on the form's Google Classroom page. Each form has a mascot that is awarded weekly to the pupil who best demonstrates the core values of the school.

Houses

The school has an active house system that encourages pupils to interact and collaborate with pupils outside their own year group. Weekly house assemblies form a basis for a wide range of house activities including sports competitions, artistic and cultural pursuits. House points are awarded for good work and behaviour, which contribute to the end of year award of the Inter-house Cup.

School Council

The School Council has two representatives from every year from Year 1 to Year 6, with Reception joining in the Summer Term. New representatives are elected every term. Designed to give all the children in the school a voice, class representatives meet every week to inform the Council of any issues or ideas generated by their classes. There are often good suggestions for improvements around the school and in the classrooms, plus some wonderful ideas for learning. Minutes are taken, which are communicated to the Headmaster. It is a real opportunity for the boys and girls to contribute to the development of the life of the school.

WHAT OUR PARENTS SAY.

“We saw such a difference in our daughter when she joined The Old School Henstead, having spent two years in our local primary school. She grew so much in confidence, both with her academic studies, but also in sport and music.

Our children are so happy at Henstead; they always want to come to school, and are smiling both at drop off and pick up. Can't ask for more than that!

I have no doubt the children have met friends for life at Henstead, as have we, as parents. The Old School really is a unique “family”, who not only want the best for our children, but also instill the real life values of teamwork, support and confidence.

Being a relatively small school, all the children are included in everything, from sports teams to school plays. Without the pupils even realising, this ensures that those who are less able can develop their skills, those who are less confident become more so, and most importantly, the children learn about teamwork, and the importance of supporting each other.

A small school with a huge beating heart.”

“Exceptional teaching standards and a wealth of opportunities across the whole academic, arts and sports spectrum have given my children the confidence, assertiveness and independence for a solid foundation in their education.

The residential trips are fantastic - exciting, adventurous, team building, trust, leadership, independence.

A small, friendly environment gives the children opportunities to get involved in all aspects of school life.”

“ (My son) has increased in confidence since being at The Old School Henstead. From a child that would shy away from new experiences to one who will try everything put before him.”

“The Old School Henstead raises all the children in its care to be more than they can be.”

“My child's attitude to learning has excelled since starting at The Old School Henstead. As parents we have noticed how much more confident and well-mannered our son has become. My son's enthusiasm for his school is reflected in all that he does.”

“We are delighted to have chosen The Old School Henstead. It is wonderful to see our son look forward to school with such enthusiasm and watch him thriving in a positive and encouraging environment.

A real strength of the school is the inspiring staff whose dedication is reflected in such highly motivated and well-rounded children.”
