JOB SUMMARY:

Forest School is seeking to appoint a passionate, inspiring, and enthusiastic teacher to join a thriving Economics and Business department. The successful candidate will work collaboratively in a team of experienced colleagues and will be expected to teach A-level Economics, with some Business Studies to highly able and motivated Year 12 and 13 students. They will promote the best possible pedagogy in the classroom to maximise student attainment and engage fully in wider Forest School life.

As one of the largest day schools in HMC, Forest abounds with opportunities for professional and career development. Teachers at Forest are rarely just confined to their subject area and the majority play a full and active role in Forest's enviable super-curricular and co-curricular programme, with opportunities to lead in clubs and activities as diverse as Model United Nations, Extended Project Qualification, Jedi Warrior Lightsabre Fencing, Chapel Choir, Music Technology and Cricket, to give but a few examples. The ambition, richness, and distinct nature of the integrated curriculum at Forest offers our staff with an unparalleled experience of a modern and holistic education in our beautiful London setting. As our Good Schools Guide Review (2023) suggests Forest is a 'flourishing, successful and well-led school in a glorious, green setting with consistently strong results that don't require pupils to sacrifice happiness or wellbeing on the way to achieving them... an education that's so genuinely rounded you could make hoops from it.'

Forest invests heavily in the development of pedagogy and teaching strategy, with all teachers expected to engage in an ambitious Professional Learning Programme which includes seminars and contact with leading minds in the teaching and learning space; most recently, Forest welcomed Tom Sherrington who presented on curriculum strategy and design. In addition, we are immensely proud of our culture of formative, ongoing and developmental peer observation through our Teaching and Learning Communities. Teachers are also encouraged to liaise regularly with our team of Lead Teaching Practitioners and benefit from coaching and constructive critical feedback and reflection on their practice.

Forest School is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children. Appointment to this position requires an enhanced DBS disclosure.

Forest follows the Edexcel specification for both Economics and Business. Results in recent years have been exceptional with 93% of students achieving A*-B in Economics and 100% in Business in the most recent set of (post-pandemic) examinations.

The department's subjects are highly popular with Sixth Form students at Forest: this year, across Year 12 and 13, there are 78 pupils studying Economics and 15 studying Business. Both Economics and Business remain the most popular undergraduate degree courses of Forest School leavers with Old Foresters reading for degrees at UCL, Warwick, Bristol, Nottingham, and Exeter.

Super-curricular and extra-curricular opportunities also abound, the department supports a thriving Economic Society and enters a team into the Business Enterprise competition. All Economists are issued with a copy of The Economist and the department promotes discussion of articles, exploration of interpretations and has previously invited external speakers from the academic and business world to present to our students.

Working as part of a highly collaborative department, the successful applicant will have the opportunity to feed into the development of curriculum, course materials and super-curricular opportunities.

Whilst we encourage all our teachers within the department to gain experience of teaching both Economics and Business Studies at A-level, we would particularly welcome applications from those with a background and developed interest in Economics.

We also welcome applications from candidates who are new to the profession and offer a well-developed and formative programme of support, coaching and guidance for PGCE and ECT candidates.

We also encourage applicants who wish to consider flexible-working requests. This is something which can be discussed at interview.

KEY RESPONSIBILITIES:

- Teach KS5 A Level Economics (and possibly A Level Business) to years 12 and 13.
- Develop, maintain and stimulate pupils' curiosity, interest and enjoyment of Economics through consistently planning and delivering high quality and engaging lessons.
- Invest time and effort in all students to ensure they achieve their full potential in Economics.
- Work effectively as a member of a close-knit team of three to continually review and develop the highest quality of teaching and learning practice in the department.
- Take on wider departmental responsibilities, including: preparing Oxbridge candidates for interview, staffing academic support or revisions sessions, creating assessment material and promoting the department to KS4 students.
- Contribute to and further develop the department's extra-curricular offering, for example: organise guest-speaker events, lead educational visits and accompany students to evening lectures in central London.
- Take on any other reasonable departmental duties and responsibilities, as allocated by the Head of Department.
