

About the School

Located between Cheltenham and Cirencester, Rendcomb College was founded in 1920 by Frederick Noel Hamilton Wills whose family have maintained an active part of the school including significant financial endowment and governance. While the school draws closer to its centenary, we maintain a vision and ethos that remains true to Wills' original values of providing an inclusive and broad-ranging education for our pupils. Rendcomb has evolved, developed and grown over the years and is now a thriving co-educational day and boarding School for 3-18 year olds totalling some 400 pupils.

The College owns some 200 acres of land including the Deer Park and the "Wilderness" which is an integral part of our Forest School and Outdoor Education provision. The College's ten acres of pitches benefit from far-reaching and astounding views. An open air swimming pool lies next to the College buildings. The school boasts four new hard surface tennis courts, sports hall, and newly refurbished squash courts, gym and all weather astro turf.

Recent developments include a state of the art Performing Arts Centre at the heart of the campus (opened in February 2017) and major refurbishment of the Science Laboratories; five laboratories now have separate teaching and practical areas putting Rendcomb at the forefront of teaching and learning facilities in this area of the curriculum. Teaching and boarding facilities have also benefited from investment and an ambitious programme of facilities development is ongoing.
