

WHAT OUR PARENTS AND PUPILS SAY

We had chosen Pocklington School among other things for its down-to-earth nature and indeed it has fully lived up to it. Clara has benefited from the structured day embedded in an active school community and has become more serious and disciplined with studying.

Ana is really enjoying her experience in the UK (she sends us lots of videos and you can see it in her face and speech) and every day we realise how lucky we were to have chosen Pocklington School. She loves the practical way you have of teaching and encouraging the children to work hard. Thank you so much to all the teachers at the school for giving her all these opportunities.

We are delighted with his results, but this email is not focused on the results, but the path to them and all the opportunities, experiences and challenges the school offered en route. We want to say a heartfelt thank you to you and all the team, both academic and non-academic, for the: huge support, going the extra mile (frequently), encouragement, challenges, time given and interest in Harry. This is what makes Pocklington so good and shows we made the right choice of school.

For me, I think one of the best things about Pock is that it's different, it's somewhere you always feel at home, you develop strong connections with teachers, who treat you as peers, and gain strong friendships and become part of a community.

It's remarkable that there have never been any problems in the whole school, but there were always solutions. The mindset has always been „How can we do this?“ rather than „Can we do this?“. This is the only way to make inclusion work! The whole Pocklington School Family has lived this in an outstanding and seemingly effortless way!

The wellbeing service has been a strength when our youngest has anxiety about work and friendships which even though are normal stress areas of growing up, have been met with the importance of how they are felt. Both children are able to express their feelings with increased clarity and understanding.

I would like to thank you all very much for your support and for the extra work you did to realise Felix' dream of a year abroad. Felix' experiences in the school and classes have been amazing. The engagement of the teachers has been brilliant and even if some of the classes were hard for Felix the teachers motivated and supported him in a wonderful and very professional way! A big „Thank you!“ to the whole team!

Following receipt of Will's results this morning, we wanted to write and give a huge thank you to you for all the support and help you have given Will throughout the last couple of years to help him achieve the grades he has.

We are so pleased with his results and he couldn't have achieved them without all the support, pushing, coaxing and regular communication with us to keep us fully aware of his progress.

I have been a pupil at Pocklington since I was seven and feel extremely grateful to my teachers and the Pocklington Community who created a supportive and inspiring environment that's not only helped my educational skills to flourish but also my confidence and character.
