HUILI SCHOOL NANTONG

CANDIDATE BROCHURE FOR INTERNATIONAL TEACHERS AT HUILI SCHOOL NANTONG

OVERVIEW

Huili School Nantong forms a bilingual arm of the Wellington College China group of schools. It opened in September 2022 and currently caters for Early Years 1 – Grade 7, but will add a new grade each academic year until full. The design and appearance echo the distinctive Victorian style of Wellington College in England, and the building is set amidst the largest Huili campus to date. The facilities are brand new and world class and can be seen clearly in our fly through video.

The school lies 30 minutes outside Nantong, a city of seven million people in the southeast of Jiangsu Province. Surrounded by the East China Sea and Yangtze River on three sides, Nantong is one of the fastest-growing coastal cities in China. Its rich history and premium location have helped the city become a major economic and cultural hub in the Yangtze Delta. As the city is set to welcome a new airport and highspeed railway into its complex transport system, the travel time between Nantong and Shanghai will be cut to just over one hour. The new Sutong Bridge, in particular, has allowed Nantong to further integrate itself into Shanghai and Jiangsu's regional development plans.

Huili School Nantong benefits from strong partnership and collaboration with its sister schools in Shanghai, Hangzhou and Tianjin. They actively work together to build upon the long and successful history of Wellington College in England, comparing favourably with the world's best schools and upholding a reputation centred on a breadth of excellence in both provision and achievement. Huili School Nantong is led strategically by The Master and a Board of Governors, all of whom are fully committed to cementing the school as the best bilingual education provider in the region.

Vital to achieving this aim is appointing a team of world-class teachers who are enthusiastic about their subjects and keen to apply this in a bilingual setting. As well as outstanding subject knowledge, we expect all our staff to have a deep interest in bringing about the best for the children in their care. We look for team players, with a commitment to continual self-improvement in all areas of school life. Our teachers need to have demonstrable, robust experience of outstanding school practice, and a strong willingness to be involved in the development of a new school. New schools, while hugely rewarding, also require a lot of hard work, and we will expect our staff to go above and beyond their job descriptions when needed, to roll up their sleeves and maintain a positive, can-do attitude throughout.

THE GROUP

Founded by Joy Qiao, Wellington College China establishes schools that, over time, can flourish with high levels of autonomy. All schools enjoy generous legal and financial independence and have their own governing boards. Decision-making is devolved to the frontline, giving leaders at all levels a sense of ownership. It is assumed that decisions can be made at school level unless explicitly stated in the governance handbook as group standards or governance decisions. The company is financially secure and not-for-profit, with the aim of gaining charitable status in the future.

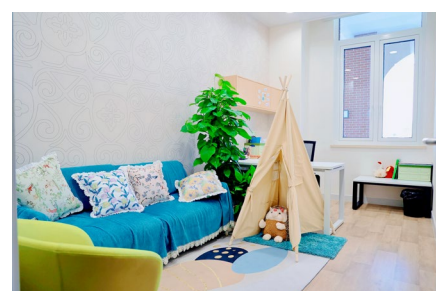

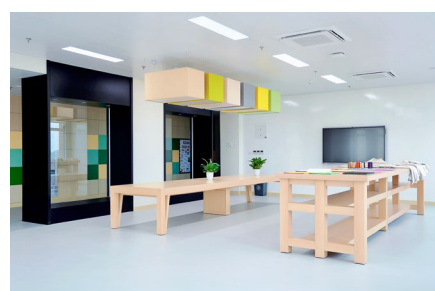

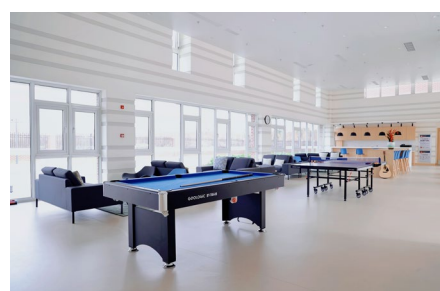

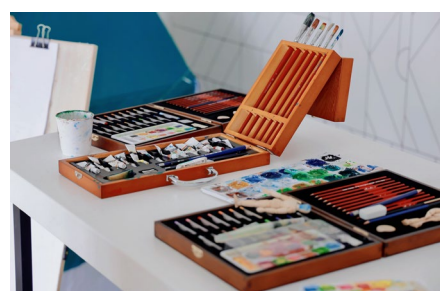

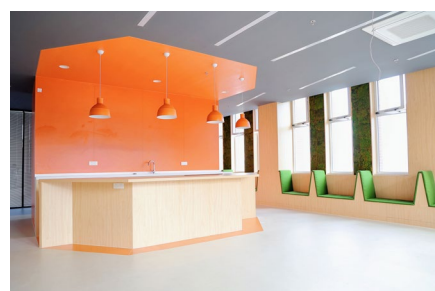

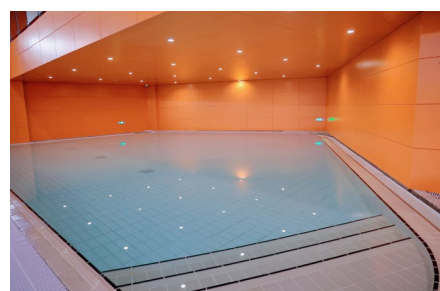

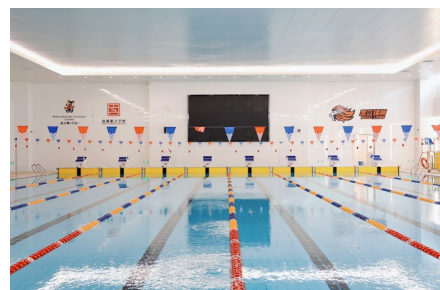

THE WELLINGTON & HUILI ETHOS

We know that the very best schools develop the whole child, and we are resolute in our commitment to holistic education. We aim to create a caring and aspirational community that develops well-rounded individuals with strong values and the skills to thrive in an ever-changing world. We achieve this through holistic education and pastoral provision that establishes the values, aptitudes and knowledge needed to be an effective global citizen.

By embracing the ethos of our prestigious and progressive partner, Wellington College in England, all Wellington and Huili schools aspire to help our pupils become the very best adults they can be. We have a clear understanding of what this involves, and we describe this as the Huili Identity. Our children will be Inspired, Intellectual, Independent, Individual and Inclusive.

Underpinning these aspirations and this philosophy is our commitment to the Huili values of Kindness, Courage, Integrity, Respect and Responsibility. The Huili Identity and the Values affect every part of our practice and will be evident in all that we do.

As a group, there is a strong desire to combine the advantages of school level autonomy and group level expertise. WCC aims to raise standards in specialist areas to a level that a standalone school cannot match, especially in the non-academic functions of HR, IT, Finance, Marketing and Facilities.

THE SCHOOL

Eventually offering a complete 15-year education, the Huili School Nantong campus has a total area of 80,000m² and opened its doors in September of 2022. Having an enrolment capacity of over 2,000, the school also offers boarding options for up to 700 pupils starting from Grade 1. Huili School Nantong adopts the same Victorian architectural style as Wellington College in England with brand new teaching areas, boarding accommodation, libraries, an indoor sports hall, two swimming pools, an all-weather football pitch, grass rugby pitch and 400m synthetic running track. All facilities are designed to resemble the high quality of its premium British counterpart.

Thanks to the network of talent within the Wellington College China group, this school has the organisation's full support in providing an outstanding academic team and a top-quality learning environment for Nantong pupils.

ABOUT NANTONG

Nantong is a prefecture-level city in the southeast of Jiangsu Province, located on the northern bank of the Yangtze River, near the mouth. A vital port city, Nantong borders Shanghai, Suzhou and Wuxi to the south across the river and the East China Sea to the east.

The current permanent resident population of Nantong is 7.7 million living in three main districts (Chongchuan, Gangzha, Tongzhou), one county (Rudong) and four county-level cities (Haimen, Qidong, Tongzhou, Rugao). Nantong has a long-standing history dating back to AD 956. Called the "first city in modern China", it is the birthplace of the first normal school, textile school, embroidery school, meteorological station and the first non-governmental museum. Haohe River and Langshan National Forest Park (with its five mountain peaks) are two of the main scenic spots in the greater Nantong region. The Nantong-Shanghai railway opened in 2020 with the Hutong Yangtze River Bridge and provides a link south to Shanghai (about 1 - 1.5h). The Nantong Metro recently opened its first line in September 2022. Nantong also boasts some excellent local and foreign cuisine; there is something for every taste however conservative or adventurous.

THE CURRICULUM

Pupils at Huili School Nantong experience a curriculum that has the rigour of the Chinese National Curriculum interwoven with features that are representative of the Wellington educational philosophy. Learning opportunities are carefully crafted to promote bilingualism in Chinese and English. The school will prepare pupils for the International General Certificate of Secondary Education (IGCSE) in the High School and A-levels in the Sixth Form, with the intention of offering IB Diploma as the school matures.

An extensive extra-curricular programme of sports, arts, performance and study are offered to enrich and broaden the education offered. Indeed, high quality pastoral provision is central to the Wellington philosophy with a thriving house system and a purposeful wellbeing programme.

THE ROLE

Teachers at Huili School Nantong will be expected to take a full role in the daily life of the school, including taking academic lessons, running extra-curricular clubs, being a form tutor, fulfilling duties during the school day and a supervisory role in the boarding house. Furthermore, we expect all teachers to promote the school's culture of excellence by maintaining the highest standards in all that we do both within and outside the school community. All teaching staff will report to their Head of Department and, in turn, to the Academic Deputy Head.

Successful candidates will join a highly competent group of Wellington College China staff and benefit from cross-group collaboration, in addition to support from a strong Central Office multi-disciplinary team.

As a result, the school is looking for teachers who:

- can work under pressure and to clear timelines while focusing on the bigger picture
- understand that in the early years of any new school, 'standard' working days and hours do not always apply and, as such, there must be flexibility over work hours and expectations
- can join an already established project and work seamlessly with various other stakeholders.
- have clear communication skills with children and parents and can confidently promote Huili School Nantong within the wider community
- can quickly forge strong working relationships with colleagues
- are able to accept the support of any mentors within the school, the group or Central Office as a whole
- can adapt and work with changing circumstances with positivity, confidence and a can-do spirit at all times.
