We are seeking to appoint a passionate and well-qualified teacher of history. The successful candidate will join a highly successful department where results are significantly above the national average. History is one of the most popular options at GCSE with six classes in year 10 and six classes in year 11. It also has a high take up at A level.

The successful candidate will need to demonstrate strong subject knowledge and be passionate about the importance of history in the curriculum. They will be expected to be able to teach history to students in key stages 3, 4 and 5 with previous experience of teaching history successfully at GCSE and A level being an advantage. The ability to teach politics at key stage 5 would also be an advantage
